TRINITY TERM 2016

The first detailed study into the role of the Inns of Court in increasing social mobility finds that students from non-traditional backgrounds continue to face serious challenges to accessing the profession, despite the efforts of the profession, universities and other organisations.

The study, jointly funded by Keele University and the Inner Temple, suggests these challenges stem from a number of sources including gaps in the understanding of the profession amongst students themselves, universities and the profession; the careers advice given to students interested in the Bar; and financial constraints which make it difficult for students to undertake work experience.

The study highlights the difficulties that some universities may experience in negotiating the line between providing balanced, realistic and accurate careers advice and reinforcing stereotypically perceived constraints about the profession.

The report recommends that the Bar build a dialogue with universities to make it clear that recruitment is based on merit rather than educational establishment or background while, at the same time, exploring strategies to address the ways in which educational establishment and background continue to shape opportunities for access to the profession.

It calls on those in the profession to do more to help non-traditional students, by offering expenses to students on mini-pupillages, for example. It also finds that more should be done to ensure that those in the profession who have the responsibility for administering mini-pupillage schemes gain a better understanding of social mobility, educational disadvantage and the alternative paths that students from non-traditional backgrounds may have taken before applying to the Bar.

The study draws on the experience of students who participated in the Inner Temple's Pegasus Access and Support Scheme (PASS), a programme designed to support students from underrepresented backgrounds into the profession, in part by helping them to find a mini-pupillage and covering the associated travel and accommodation expenses to allow them to complete it. The report shows that PASS works very well in increasing mutual exposure between non-traditional aspirant entrants and chambers.

Dr Elaine Freer, who authored the report, said: "It is clear we need more mutual understanding between potential students, higher education, and the Bar to ensure that gifted students from non-traditional backgrounds do not slip through the net. Inner Temple's work goes some way to addressing this by administering a scheme which offers mini-pupillages on the basis of potential and achievement wider than academic qualifications. Such experience of the profession provides a forum in which stereotypical views held by both non-traditional aspirant entrants and the profession can be challenged."

Professor Andrew Francis, an Associate Academic Fellow of the Inn, who supervised the research, added: "Traditional thoughts on work experience might prevent those sitting on interview panels from recognising the depth and breadth of experience that underrepresented students might have gained through other means. Our understanding of what merit is and how it is applied is often ill-defined. Interview and selection panels must be clear on what they are looking for. Otherwise the experiences of underrepresented groups can often be overlooked."

As gatekeepers to the profession and the only bodies that can call students to the Bar of England and Wales, the Inns of Court play an important role in creating access to the profession and educating future barristers. Since 2009, the Inner Temple has established a wide range of outreach initiatives to work towards a more diverse profession and this report shows that our programmes are transformational for individual students. The report is also challenging reading about what more can be done and we will not shy away from these challenges.

LÉGION D'HONNEUR

Ambassador Sylvie Bermann presenting the Légion d'honneur to Master Neill

Master Neill (The Rt Hon Sir Brian Neill) a veteran of WWII has been awarded the Légion d'honneur, France's highest distinction, during a ceremony at the French Ambassador's Residence in Kensington, London. The ceremony was one of a number of medal ceremonies that have taken place around the UK since the 70th anniversary of D-Day in June 2014, when President François Hollande pledged to honour all those British veterans who had served in France during the war. Master Neill served as a Lieutenant in the Rifle Brigade regiment.

Master Caron has stepped down as Dean of the Dickson Poon School of Law at King's College London to take up his appointment as Judge to the highly prestigious Iran-United States Claims Tribunal (IUSCT).

Faizah Jamaludin (Called July 1990) has been elected President of the Malaysian Inner Temple Alumni Association.

EQUALITY & DIVERSITY TRAINING

The Bar Council provides regular Introduction to Equality and Diversity Training (Toolkit) courses designed for barristers, chambers' Equality and Diversity Officers, practice managers and clerks. Developed by members of the Bar Council Equality and Diversity Committee as a practical aid to chambers, the sessions aim to raise diversity awareness through a series of practical case studies drawn from the experience of applying equality and diversity policies in chambers, as well as a summary of the legal and regulatory duties. The training carries 1.5 CPD hours and sessions are run on a monthly basis.

COUNTS AS ONE AND A HALF HOURS OF CPD

The Bar Council also offers a new Advanced Equality and Diversity Training for EDOs and Chambers' Managers course intended for those with a management role in chambers and EDOs or those with responsibility for implementing the Bar Standards Board's Equality and Diversity rules. Going beyond compliance with the rules, this course intends to explain their purpose and role in good chambers management. This course carries 2.5 CPD hours and will be held on the evening of 27 June.

COUNTS AS TWO AND A HALF HOURS OF CPD

Courses can be booked by following this link

MAKING AN INFORMED DECISION ABOUT A CAREER AT THE BAR

The Bar Standards Board recently published the 2016 edition of its BPTC Key Statistics document to help prospective BPTC students make an informed decision about their chances of progression to pupillage before undertaking the BPTC. The statistics include first degree classification, BPTC grade and career progression for recent BPTC cohorts at each BPTC provider. The statistics indicate that those BPTC graduates who secure pupillage are likely to have secured a first or upper second class degree and an Outstanding or Very Competent grade on the BPTC. This statistic is further supported by the Inn's own statistics which indicate that over 90% of Inner Temple pupils secured a first or upper second class degree.

The BPTC Key Statistics document can be found on the BSB's website: www.barstandardsboard.org.uk/media-centre/press-releases-and-news/bsb-publishes-new-figures-showing-success-rates-for-student-barristers/

Further information for prospective students can be found in the Inn's Guide to Becoming a Barrister: www.innertemple.org.uk/prospective-members/careers-guide

RAWLINSON CUP

The final of the Inn's internal debate competition, the Rawlinson Cup, was held at Mixed Dining Night on 9 May. Having been selected through try-outs at the weekly debates held in 1 Mitre Court, student members Jake Armes, Nisha Sundra Rajoo, Gayan Samarasinghe and Oliver May debated the motion "This House believes that we have surrendered too much Liberty in the pursuit of greater security". A panel comprising Joanne Moss (Falcon Chambers), Master Hodge and Master Treasurer judged the debate, awarding the trophy to Oliver May. The trophy and a copy of Other Men's Flowers, Master Rawlinson's favourite book of poetry, were presented to Oliver May by Master Rawlinson's son and daughter, Anthony and Angela Rawlinson.

INNER TEMPLE SCHOOLS PROJECT

On 16 March, the Outreach Team hosted the final Schools Project event of the academic year in collaboration with the Sutton Trust, Pure Potential and the Kent and Medway Progression Federation. All three partners run social mobility initiatives designed to assist young people attending state sixth forms to access higher education and a range of professions, including law.

The day-long seminar comprised a presentation on pursuing a career at the Bar, a panel discussion on life as a barrister in different practice areas, and group case law and plea in mitigation exercises. We were especially privileged to have the assistance of several of the Inn's student members who provided valuable insight to life on the BPTC, approaches to scholarships and tips on securing legal work experience. The success of these events is largely attributable to the generosity of those who offer their time and expertise. Therefore we would like to thank everyone who participated: Judge Mark Sutherland Williams, Alicia Ademousu, Carolina Bracken, Victoria Hill, Rabah Kherbane, Alejandra Llorente Tascon, Christelle McCracken, Gabriel Olufadeji, Max Schofield and Adrian Williamson QC.

The Inner Temple also hosted both of the London launch events for the Social Mobility Foundation's Aspiring Professionals Programme, welcoming over 800 secondary school students to the Inner Temple.

As part of our ongoing support for the Sutton Trust, the Inner Temple hosted a dinner in Hall for 150 Pathways Plus students and mentors from across the legal sector. Pathways Plus is a university student programme and is an extension of Pathways to Law.

VULNERABLE WITNESSES – GIVING EVERYONE AN EQUAL VOICE

The final student conference weekend of the year took place at Highgate House over the weekend of 6-8 May 2016 and focussed on the topic of vulnerable witnesses. The 72 BPTC students in attendance heard from a panel of speakers with significant expertise in this area including Dame Joyce Plotnikoff DBE (co-founder of The Advocate’s Gateway), Tracy Ayling QC (2 Bedford Row), District Judge Sue Williams and Jan Jones (an experienced intermediary). We were also immensely grateful to hear from a young woman who, as a teenager, had been a witness in a sexual offences trial. Students were also able to see a mock trial demonstrating the right and wrong ways to examine and cross-examine a vulnerable witness. Finally, students had the opportunity themselves to practise the advocacy skills and techniques necessary to ensure that vulnerable witnesses are able to give evidence to the best of their ability.

We would like to thank Master Patrick and Hannah Smith (Edward Hayes LLP) for organising the weekend as well as our speakers and, last but definitely not least, the members across several circuits who gave up their weekend to act as group leaders and judges on this qualifying session course.

For more information on handling vulnerable witnesses, please explore the toolkits for barristers: www.theadvocatesgateway.org/toolkits

CALLING ALL NEW PUPILS!

If you have secured pupillage please remember to register your pupillage with the Bar Standards Board and also with the Inn. Please visit the Inner Temple website or contact David Miller for further information and a Pupillage Registration Form.

ADVOCACY PRIZES FOR PUPILS

Advocacy Prizes were recently awarded to the two pupils who demonstrated the best advocacy skills on this year’s compulsory pupils’ advocacy courses. Such was the quality of this year’s pupils that a further mock trial competition had to be held to decide the winner.

Congratulations are due to Charlotte Glaser (9-12 Bell Yard) who received the Jarman Advocacy Award of £1000 and to Adam Porte (Financial Conduct Authority), the worthy runner-up, who received the Davis Advocacy Award of £500. The Inn is very grateful to the family and friends of the late Nicholas Jarman QC and to his former chambers (4KBW, chambers of Tim Raggatt QC), and to Master Simon Davis and his wife Caroline for their generous support of these awards.

ADVOCACY AND PUPILLAGE APPLICATIONS

On 9 April 2016, the Inn hosted its annual Advocacy and Pupillage Applications Session – this event is aimed at BPTC graduates who are seeking pupillage and have already secured at least one pupillage interview within the past two years. The event was attended by 31 BPTC graduates and sessions were led by members of both the junior and senior Bar. Participants were required to submit an example pupillage application and legal CV in advance of the course. On the day itself, participants practised their advocacy skills, took part in one-on-one mock pupillage interviews and pupillage application/legal CV reviews with a practising barrister. Feedback from the event was most positive with one BPTC graduate noting that it was “the most important and useful piece of training that I have received from Inner or indeed, anywhere else”.

NEW PRACTITIONERS’ ADVOCACY & ETHICS COURSE

The first of the Inn’s annual Advocacy and Ethics courses for New Practitioners took place in April. The advocacy element of the course was held at Wotton House in Dorking, from 15-17 April. 36 junior barristers, split into civil and criminal groups, were given the opportunity to cross-examine real expert medical witnesses. Their performances were video-reviewed by senior advocacy trainers, using the Inn’s brand new tablet devices, replacing the old video

We would like to thank the following members who committed significant time before and during the session to support and advise our BPTC graduates: David Jukes (Hailsham Chambers), Helena Duong (23 Essex Street), Catherine Osborne (Garden Court Chambers), Victoria Roberts (5 Pump Court), Jonathan Chew (Wilberforce Chambers), Simon Atkinson (Wilberforce Chambers), Abimbola Johnson (25 Bedford Row), Kyri Argyropoulos (15 New Bridge Street), Alex Mills (23 Essex Street), Denise Saunders (Crown Office Row), Emma Jones (One Essex Court), Matthew Watson (XXIV Old Buildings), Ben Rich (2 Hare Court), Jessica Brindle (3 Dr Johnson’s Buildings), Barry White (23 Essex Street), Mandy Tanner (2-3 Hind Court), Robin Sellers (2 KBW), Francesca O’Neill (1 Chancery Lane), Daniel Lister (23 Essex Street) and Rahul Varma (Lamb Chambers).

If you would like to volunteer for this event next year please contact Julia Armfield cameras. The after-dinner speech on the Saturday night was given by Dr Brian Alderman, one of the medical experts. The Ethics session took place on 25 April at the Inn, allowing the NPs to tackle a series of hypothetical ethical problems with the assistance of real solicitors and established practitioners. As always, the Education & Training Team would like to thank all those who gave up their time to teach, speak or attend the sessions as observers. The second course for this year takes place from 10-12 June (advocacy) and 20 June (ethics).

QUESTION & ANSWER DAY

In conjunction with the Junior Bar Association, the Inner Temple is running its annual Question & Answer Day for prospective members on Sunday 19 June 2016. Question and Answer Day gives university students the opportunity to participate in a number of workshops on scholarships, applying for pupillage and life as a pupil / junior tenant. The Inn is seeking practitioner members to take part in panel sessions, particularly those who have a disability or who came to the Bar later in life. Please contact Struan Campbell.

BARRISTERS TO GIVE MOCK INTERVIEWS

The Mock Interview Scheme gives students a chance to refine their interview technique with the support of an established barrister before they undertake a 'real' pupillage interview. The scheme is valued highly by our student members and consistently receives positive feedback. Since the pupillage interview season is in full swing, the scheme needs more volunteers. The time commitment is flexible but typically amounts to around 1-3 hours per year. Please contact Georgina Everatt.

GROUP LEADERS/JUDGES FOR STUDENT RESIDENTIAL WEEKENDS

The Education & Training Team organises three student conference weekends a year at external venues in Windsor and Northamptonshire. The weekends focus on a particular legal topic and include panel presentations from experts in that topic as well as sentencing exercises and advocacy exercises. Previous weekends have covered a broad range of topics including terrorism, the family court, deaths in custody, the impact of social media on the legal system, the jury system and vulnerable witnesses. Barrister members over 7 years' Call act as group leaders and judicial members judge the student advocacy exercise. If you would like to volunteer to be a group leader or judge at a future weekend, please contact Julia Armfield.

WE NEED YOUR HELP!

OUTREACH

The Outreach Team organises a range of outreach activities for school and university students at the Inn and across England and Wales. If you are interested in helping with these events, please contact Struan Campbell or Lacara Barnes-Rowe. We are particularly keen to hear from members on circuit.

REGIONAL QUALIFYING SESSIONS

BPTC students at providers outside of London are able to organise up to three qualifying sessions locally. These may be lectures, advocacy training, mooted or debating sessions followed by a reception with members of the local Bar. These sessions are subsidised by the Inn. Our student members would greatly appreciate the support of local members for these sessions. If you would be willing to help with future sessions, please contact Georgina Everatt.

ADVOCACY TRAINING FACULTY

The Inn's dedicated Advocacy Trainers provide compulsory advocacy training courses for pupils and new practitioners and are increasingly being called upon to provide specialist advocacy training for established practitioners. If you are over 7 years' Call and would be interested in undertaking the October advocacy teacher-training course to support this core function of the Inn, please contact David Miller.

THE COMMONWEALTH

On 18 April, the Inn hosted a major conference for Commonwealth High Commissioners in London on “Promoting Prosperity” with particular reference to strategies for combating fraud, bribery and corruption through Commonwealth co-operation. This was a joint event organised with the Royal Commonwealth Society and whose Chief Operating Officer, Dr Annette Prandzioch, is a member of the Inn.

The main speakers were Master Robinson on the UK Bribery Act, Master Hallett on the role of the Courts, Master Green, Director of the Serious Fraud Office, and Master Hooper who advises the World Bank and United Nations on their joint Stolen Assets Recovery Initiative. The Treasurer and The Rt Hon Lord Howell of Guildford, President of the Royal Commonwealth Society, welcomed the delegates to the Inn and The Rt Hon Patricia Scotland QC spoke for the first time since being appointed Secretary General of the Commonwealth.

This was followed by a visit to the Inn by The Rt Hon Hugo Swire MP, Minister of State at the Foreign and Commonwealth Office, to review a number of Commonwealth initiatives which benefit from an input by the Inn.

CENTRAL AND EAST EUROPEAN MOOT COMPETITION IN BRATISLAVA, SLOVAKIA

BY ALYA YAMAKOGLU

Members of the Honourable Society of the Inner Temple, Kieron Beal QC, Alya Yamakoglu and Rosa Greaves were a part of the judging panel of the Central and Eastern European Mooting Competition, held in Bratislava Slovakia, with attendees from twelve countries, including Turkey, Russia, Latvia and Georgia. The venues in which the competition took place were the Supreme Court and the National Court of the Slovak Republic.

This competition, judged by some of the greatest practitioners of the European Union Law field, held its welcoming reception on 29 April in Comenius University Bratislava, in which Advocate General Eleanor Sharpston gave a speech stating that the attendees should not be worried, but rather enjoy the opportunity to make mistakes, to enhance their advocacy skills, and most importantly, to enjoy the fruits of their hard work.

One could see the pure excitement and anxiety of the teams, scattered around the Supreme Court in various corners of the building. Considering that English was a second language to most, the advocacy skills of the attendees were exceptional.

Members of the Inner Temple, Kieron Beal QC and Alya Yamakoglu provided a speech to the attendees regarding the Inns of Courts and on how to become a Barrister. The students were particularly captivated by the life experiences of Kieron Beal QC within the Court of Justice for the European Union.

BREXIT

Master Laws, President of the Bar European Group, chaired a well presented and thoughtful debate on 3 May which considered the legal implications that would follow a vote against continued membership of the European Union. Master Falconer was one of the speakers.

DELEGATIONS

The Inn has welcomed delegations and members from Thailand (below), Estonia, Panama, Romania, Mauritius, Brunei, Barbados, Turkey, Florida USA and Ghana. In the latter case the group was accompanied by Sam Okudzeto (Called 1963) and who still has a full practice in Accra (pictured right).

VISITORS

Recent visitors to the Library have included Lorena Dinca, the Magna Carta Scholar from Romania, Dr Ruvi Ziegler, one of the Inn's Academic Fellows, and a group of American lawyers from the Chester Bedell American Inn of Court. So far this year twenty-four tours have been carried out for groups of students from universities and sixth form colleges.

LEGAL RESEARCH QUALIFYING SESSION

At a recent Qualifying Sessions Sub-Committee meeting approval was given for the Library to organise a training session for new BPTC students. It will be run in the autumn and will cover basic legal research. The session will take place on a weekday evening and will be repeated twice on a Saturday to facilitate access for students who are not based locally. This will be the first time that the Library has been involved in qualifying sessions and we look forward to participating in these events.

DATABASE TRAINING

During June we will be organising CPD accredited training sessions on Justis, Lexis and Westlaw which will be carried out by the database providers. The dates will be advertised in the Library and on our website (www.innertemplelibrary.org.uk).

INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S DAY

To mark International Women's Day on 8 March, we put together an interactive timeline of women's legal history featuring landmark moments in legislative and judicial history. We have also produced a display and leaflet, Women at the Inns of Court, profiling a selection of noteworthy female members. The timeline and leaflet can be viewed on the Library website. The First Hundred Years campaign, a history project supported by the Bar Council and the Law Society which charts the journey of women in law since 1919, will be using elements from the Library's timeline in a similar publication of its own.

GARDEN NEWS TIP-TOE THROUGH THE TULIPS

BY ANDREA BRUNSENDORF HEAD GARDENER

In very timely fashion with the busiest garden season of the year approaching, the Inn was hosting another staff training course on 'Prioritising and Managing your Time', a topic that always challenges the Garden Team as soon as the tulip displays are flowering in mid-spring. Not that the tulip display itself is the challenge, but the symbolism of it in garden maintenance terms is somewhat alarming for the gardener.

With the first tulips out we should have mulched all the flower borders, supported all perennials with woven pea-stick cages and thinned-out the self-seeders, such as poppy 'Lauren's Grape' and Smyrniun perfoliatum (Great Alexander), because the borders are quite difficult to access, i.e. to tip-toe through, when the tulips are in full swing. Simple jobs such as this become unnecessarily tough, particularly on the tulips as they might accidentally lose their heads when kicked with a pea-stick, long-handled fork or a foot. You might have noticed on your recent walk through the Garden, admiring our tulips, that some of these jobs have not yet been completed. Now knowing about our access issues during the tulip season, you might think that we mis-prioritised our jobs this spring and, if I am honest, lately I have caught myself thinking this once or twice when working amongst the tulips on the High Border.

However, reflecting on our achievements in the late winter and early spring, we decided to prioritise a number of jobs on our list. At the top was the re-edging and mulching of our tree circles, a job that has to be done whilst the tree root zones are still moist from all the winter rains, the temperatures are low hindering the germination of unwanted weeds and of course before the daffodils are in full bloom, since it is much harder to work around them than tulips. This demonstrates a key element of good time management; doing a job at the right time and in the right way which is the most efficient and effective way of working; a simple concept which is so often hard to put into practice.

Sometimes the job list can be so overwhelmingly long that it can be difficult to distinguish between urgent and important jobs. I have discovered an obvious tool; I just ask myself and the team what are the consequences if we don't do this job right now. This simple reflective exercise means our weekly and monthly job list falls into place much better and is more achievable. For example, back in February, I chose to focus on the recruitment of our new trainee gardener, Emily Blackmore, and our new part-time position of Garden Administrator/Seasonal Gardener, Pamela Gent, instead of pea-staking perennials in the High Border. We figured that it was more urgent to have two new team members in place for April, the beginning of our busiest season, than staking asters and geranium in February, just because that is the traditional time to do it. The asters and geraniums are very understanding, since they are still at ground level and with little need of support yet. Besides, now with two new team members we can easily share and delegate our workload much better, even if it means we have got to tip-toe through the tulips.

Of course, one should always aim to be proactive with the planning of garden tasks so that you don't end up in the 'fire-fighting' position where jobs are both urgent and very important. It is such an unsatisfying way of working, especially when there is so much to appreciate about being a Gardener at this time of year. A useful method to minimise this slightly panicked state is to schedule, schedule and schedule! Garden jobs such as spot weeding the long grass areas, watering the containerised laurels outside the Pegasus Bar or applying bi-weekly pond water treatments, are now reoccurring activities in our diary. These jobs that do not completely preoccupy my mind also give me some creative thinking time where I can mentally map out a vision for the Garden or plan the Garden's 5-year budget plan, which also gets its own allocated time slot from now on to avoid late nights over Excel spreadsheets!

So, in being more aware of working efficiently and effectively, we hope to deliver ever improving garden displays. Doing tasks the right way, at the right time mean that our high horticultural aspirations can be attained. As our daily objectives are continuously shuffled and re-ordered we hope not to decapitate too many tulips and that the calmness of the garden is reflected in the Team. Over the coming months, I hope that you enjoy the fruits of our labour, whether they have been realised through planned, prioritised, scheduled, delegated, or fire-fought actions.

*Footnote for the gardening enthusiast: This year has been a very poor year for tulips, because the winter was too mild and wet, therefore the more fancy tulips have succumbed to fungal disease and stunted growth. If you stuck to simple, single, early or late flowering tulips, like Purissima, Exotic Emperor or Dordogne, you would have been in for a treat. Those tulips really thrived in the cool early spring weather, particularly along King's Bench Walk and the High Border.

TEMPLE CHURCH BOYS' CHOIR TOUR TO SINGAPORE AND AUSTRALIA

This July, The Temple Church Choir's youngest members will gather at Heathrow Airport for the start of an adventure that will take them around the globe to Singapore and Australia for their first-ever international tour as the Temple Church Boys' Choir.

Due to coincide with the release of their first solo recording, Treblesome, the boys will start the tour in Singapore on 20 July, singing before an invited audience at a Rule of Law event organised by the Singapore Academy of Law.

This relationship between music and the law is a natural partnership for the Temple Church Boys' Choir since their predecessors have been singing to the lawyers and judges of the Temple for over one hundred years in the beautiful Temple Church.

Aged eight to fourteen, the boys work hard to combine their school studies with the training, services, recitals and performance dates required by the choir. They embark on their inaugural international tour under the Patronage of Her Excellency Ms Foo Chi Hsia, High Commissioner for Singapore, and His Excellency The Hon Alexander Downer AC, High Commissioner for Australia.

"This is a wonderful opportunity for the boys to see the world, to make new friends and to perform in some spectacular locations," said Inner Temple's Sub-Treasurer Patrick Maddams. "It is also a great opportunity for the Temple to connect with our colleagues in Singapore and Australia."

The tour schedule will include an appearance at a Charity Gala at the University of Western Australia in Perth, preceded by a legal panel discussion featuring a distinguished list of speakers. The choir will then fly to Australia's East Coast where they will connect with local school choirs for joint performances in Sydney and Brisbane. Members of the legal profession and the general public will be invited to enjoy concerts at St Mary's Cathedral in Sydney, and St John's Cathedral in Brisbane.

This collaboration with local choirs will celebrate the tradition of choral music in the churches and cathedrals of both Australia and the UK, and will include Britten's Ceremony of Carols as well as specially commissioned arrangements.

Led by Roger Sayer, Director of Music at the Temple Church, and accompanied by organist Greg Morris, The Temple Church Boys' Choir's first-ever solo tour will include a repertoire of stunning choral gems. Those who attend the concerts will hear Visions, a new commission by John Rutter alongside traditional classics such as Schubert's Ave Maria, Brahms' Wie Melodien and Løvland's You Raise Me Up.

The tour follows a similar venture in 2014 when the Temple Church Choir sang at the Library of Congress and the Supreme Court in Washington D.C. at the start of the Magna Carta 800th Anniversary celebrations, again before a distinguished audience of Supreme Court Justices and lawyers. In celebration of the same anniversary, the choir sang before Her Majesty the Queen and many other international dignitaries at Runnymede on 15 June, 2015.

To raise funds for the tour, a Musical Marathon will take place at the Temple Church on Thursday 23 June. Featuring artists of the Temple Church, including the Temple Church Boys' Choir, the marathon will begin at 9.00 and feature twelve hours of music with a variety of artists performing every hour.

WE WOULD LIKE TO INVITE PEOPLE TO SPONSOR AN HOUR OR A PIECE OF MUSIC WITHIN AN ALLOTTED HOUR OF THE MARATHON," SAID ROGER SAYER. "IT WILL ALSO BE A CHANCE TO HEAR THE MAGNIFICENT TEMPLE CHURCH ORGAN IN ALL ITS GLORY, AS WELL AS CHAMBER AND CHORAL MUSIC.

JOHN OGILBY – KING’S COSMOGRAPHER

BY CELIA PILKINGTON

On the day before his coronation and restoration to the throne of England on the 23rd April 1661, King Charles II processed through London from the Tower to Whitehall passing the Inner Temple in a procession led by the King’s Council at Law, the Masters of the Chancery and the Judges, many of whom were members of this Inn. According to our accounts the Inn itself celebrated the passing of the procession with bonfires, wine and banners were placed outside the Inner Temple gate. The procession was documented by the great cartographer and publisher John Ogilby (1600 – 1676) and can be found in our library under the grand title of The entertainment of his most excellent Majestie Charles II in his passage through the City of London to his Coronation 1661.

John Ogilby was also responsible for the production of two of the earliest known maps of the Inn, both showing the Inn after the Great Fire. He was employed by the Corporation of London as a ‘sworn viewer’ whose job entailed plotting out the disputed property in the City. His map of the Inn in

STAFF NEWS

EMILY BLACKMORE

Emily Blackmore joined the Garden team on the 11 April as Trainee Gardener. Emily has come to us from the Olympic Park where she was a maintenance gardener prior to which she was an Event Manager. During her two-year traineeship she will receive formal training from us and work towards a horticultural qualification, RHS Level 3 Diploma.

PAMELA GENT

Pamela Gent also joined the Garden team on the 11 April as Garden Administrator/ Seasonal Gardener, which is a new part-time position. Pam has joined us from the wholesale site of Gail's bakery, where she was an account manager.

Prior to this she supported two very successful start-ups in Dubai, building up an organic restaurant and organic veg-box scheme. Pam will be in charge of all the general garden administration and support us with the maintenance of the garden during our busy season.

ANDRZEJ KWIATKOWSKI

Andrzej Kwiatkowski the Inn's Cellar Manager and his wife

Monika had their first baby, Szymon in April. Very proud father Andrzej will also be moving his family to a new home in June to create a bigger space for Szymon.

JOLANTA BIALAS

Jolanta Bialas (right) who had worked as the Inn's Laundry Assistant and Waitress for eight years has left the Inn to work as a receptionist for Accenture, where some of our members have already met her. We wish her luck in her new career.

IWONA BIALAS

Iwona Bialas (left) worked as the Inn's Functions Supervisor for 10 years and, having finalised her accountancy exams, has gone on to put her new qualifications to good use in a public transport maintenance company. We are glad that all her hard studies have paid off and wish her well.

CHRISTOPHER CHRISTOU

Christopher Christou, Head Chef of Pegasus and his wife Sabrina had their first baby in May, a beautiful daughter, Ariadne.
