Social Mobility Index

The Inner Temple in Top 50 Employers for Action on Social Mobility

The Inner Temple's strong performance in the first ever Social Mobility Index of employers taking action on social mobility recognises the efforts undertaken by the Inn to support candidates from under-represented backgrounds in accessing a career as a barrister.

The Inner Temple was rated 35 out of the Top 50 employers. Nearly 100 employers from 17 sectors, who collectively employ just under one million people, submitted entries about their practices and procedures in areas such as work with young people, recruitment, selection and progression.

The Index is a joint initiative between the Social Mobility Foundation and the Social Mobility Commission, in partnership with the City of London Corporation. It ranks Britain's employers for the first time on the actions they are taking to ensure they are open to accessing and progressing talent from all backgrounds and it showcases progress towards improving social mobility.

Research has consistently shown that people from more affluent backgrounds take a disproportionate number of the best jobs and that employers tend to disproportionately employ graduates who went to private schools and elite universities.

David Johnston, Chief Executive of the Social Mobility Foundation, said: "All the Top 50 firms in the Social Mobility Employer Index should be applauded for the progress they are making towards ensuring that everyone has the opportunity to get in and get on – regardless of their background."

"While no one firm has cracked the issue and there is still progress to be made, they should be congratulated both for having prioritised social mobility and for being prepared to have their processes and practices independently scrutinised."

The Rt Hon Alan Milburn, chair of the Social Mobility Commission, added: "Improving the UK's dismal social mobility record requires new action by employers and not just governments. It is very welcome that more employers are changing their workforce strategies to ensure they don't lose out on talented people from less privileged backgrounds. The top 50 are paving the way and I thank them for their efforts. Where they are leading, I hope others will follow."

"The annual publication of this Index aims to shine a light on how and where progress is being made. Employers that have employees at all levels from a rich variety of social backgrounds are better placed to meet the demands and uncertainties of today's world. Social mobility is good for employers. And employers can make a major contribution to creating a more mobile society."

The Inner Temple has a dedicated Outreach Committee and staff team to support a range of programmes to encourage access to the Bar from under-represented groups. Programmes include the Schools Project, the Pegasus Access and Support Scheme (PASS), and Insight Evenings across the country. The Inn also offers over £1.7 million each year in Scholarships. To get involved in outreach activities, please contact Struan Campbell or Daisy Mortimer.

Drawing the line

This year marks the 70th anniversary of the independence of India and Pakistan. Several members of Inner Temple played a crucial role in the momentous events leading up to “the stroke of the midnight hour” – Gandhi, Nehru, Jinnah and, earlier, Krishnavarma. They, and their British counterparts, all feature in Gurinder Chadra’s recent film Viceroy’s House which tells a version of the final days of the British Raj. Gillian Anderson, a Patron of the Temple Legal Centre and playing Edwina Mountbatten, is just one of a stellar cast.

However, the part played by Simon Callow may be less well known. With just a month to go before independence in August 1947, a British lawyer, Cyril Radcliffe, was sent to India with the impossible task of drawing the boundaries between India and Pakistan by demarcating the Sikh, Muslim and Hindu regions of the Punjab and, on the other side of the country, between Muslim and Hindu Bengal.

Radcliffe had been called to the Bar by Inner Temple in 1924, joining the chambers of another Inner Templar, Wilfred Greene, later Master of the Rolls and subsequently a Law Lord. Callow plays Radcliffe with anguished panache. The partition led to 14 million people fleeing from one side to the other and Radcliffe was in no doubt of the terrible suffering partition would bring.

He never wrote nor spoke in public about it, even refusing his salary for the assignment.

Why was he chosen for the job? *Radcliffe was widely respected for his intellectual abilities, but he had never been to India. Paradoxically, this fact made him a more attractive candidate, on the theory that ignorance of India would equal impartiality. American research suggests there is no evidence that Radcliffe was biased against Hindus, Muslims, or Sikhs, but he was certainly biased in favour of preserving British interests, confused though they were.

And it should be noted that he was appointed by Prime Minister Attlee, another Inner Templar. Both had received their earlier education at the same school though not at the same time. He was the safe pair of hands in a turbulent world.

After he returned to England Radcliffe was appointed a Lord Justice of Appeal even though he had never sat as a Judge. He chaired a number of important enquiries from the future of the British Film Institute to monetary reform. He became the first Chancellor of the new Warwick University in 1965 and until his death in 1977. Radcliffe Chambers in New Square is named in his honour.

Education & Training

Student Training and Support

We are looking forward to welcoming our new BPTC student members to the Inn at Introductory events in September and October. Students will be given information on the Inn's qualifying sessions, which will include expert lectures, advocacy training, student residential conferences and presentational skills sessions, all designed to complement students' BPTC training and allow students to meet and learn from practising barristers and judges.

This year's student residential conferences will focus on the following topics:

- Corporate Crime and Punishment – Cumberland Lodge, December 2017
- The Law within Sport – Highgate House,

February 2018

- Mental Illness and Capacity – Highgate House, May 2018

Our new students will also receive details on the support schemes we offer, including marshalling, mentoring, mock interviews and police liaison. They will also hear from the Presidents of the four student-run Inner Temple Societies (ITSA, Mooting, Debating and Drama) about how they can become involved in the Societies' activities.

The Education & Training team would like to take this opportunity to welcome our new BPTC students – we look forward to working with you this year and in the future.

Question & Answer Day

The Inn's annual Question & Answer Day for students interested in a career at the Bar took place on Sunday 25 June. The day was a huge success with students attending from a wide range of universities. In addition, for the first time, AS and A Level students were also invited to attend. The day was opened by James Batten (4KBW, President of the Inner Temple Junior Bar Association), who provided a detailed and useful view of life at the Bar. The event provided an insight into different areas of practice and life as a junior practitioner, as well as an opportunity for students to gain valuable advice on pupillage applications and interviews. This was followed by a reception, during which students met and spoke informally with members of the Inn. Thanks go to all the members of the junior Bar who volunteered at this event.

Students attend Question & Answer Day

Get involved with Outreach!

The Inn's outreach programme would not be possible without the support of the many members who give up their time to volunteer at events. If you would like to be involved in the Inn's outreach work, please contact Struan Campbell or Daisy Mortimer.

Police Liaison Scheme

The Police Liaison Scheme aims to promote good relations between the Bar and the Police Service. The scheme allows BPTC students to visit police stations in one of four participating London boroughs and to accompany officers on patrol or in the CID Department. The scheme has helped many students interested in a career at the criminal Bar to become familiar with police station procedures and the ways in which incidents are dealt with. BPTC students participating in this year's Inner Temple

Police Liaison Scheme will begin their visits to police stations in October 2017. Visits will be arranged throughout the academic year. The scheme is a reciprocal one, with further events organised to give police officers a greater understanding of the work of barristers and judges. This includes a mock trial each year.

If you are interested in helping or in finding out more about the scheme, please contact Daisy Mortimer.

Act as a Witness in Advocacy Training

The Education & Training Team is recruiting BPTC students to act as witnesses in our mock trials for pupils. As well as gaining a qualifying session (when attending two separate mock trials), this is a great opportunity to take part in the Inn's advocacy training programme for pupils. We are currently recruiting for the following dates in 2017:

- Tuesday 21 November
- Wednesday 22 November
- Monday 27 November
- Tuesday 28 November

All the mock trials will take place at the Royal Courts of Justice from 5.30pm to 7.30pm. Further sessions will be available in February 2018.

Students will be able to book for these dates via the online portal. For further information, please contact Kerry Upham or David Miller.

Marshalling Scheme

The Marshalling Scheme is run for the benefit of current BPTC students. Feedback from the students has shown that it has helped to increase their understanding of the judicial system and provide them with a new perspective on being both a barrister and a judge. Marshalling placements are allocated throughout the year and it is always a popular scheme for the students. As always, we would welcome interest from judges around the country to help increase the number of opportunities we can provide for the Inn's newest members. If you are a judge and would be willing to have a student sit with you for one to five days, or if you would like further information on the scheme, please contact Kerry Upham.

Mentoring Scheme

The Mentoring Scheme aims to provide students with advice, guidance and a point of contact during their initial stages of becoming a barrister. Mentors are allocated at the beginning of the academic year and demand is always very high. This year is no exception, so we are in need of more volunteers. If you are a barrister of 5 years' Call or more and would like to help or would like some further information, please contact Georgina Everatt.

Calling All Pupils!

The first of the Inn's compulsory advocacy courses for pupils will begin in October 2017. If you have not yet registered your pupillage with the BSB (and sent a copy of your form to the Inn), please contact David Miller as soon as possible. Even if you are not due to start pupillage until spring 2018, you must attend an advocacy course before the start of your second six, so please register your details as soon as possible. Failure to do so could result in your not being issued with a practising certificate.

The Practice Management Course will be held on Saturday 13 January 2018. This course is compulsory and information will be sent to pupils at the same time as the advocacy course dates.

Advocacy and the Vulnerable

The Inn ran its first Advocacy and the Vulnerable barrister delegate training sessions on 17 June, attended by 63 barristers and taught by eight Facilitators. This course was part of the national roll out of Advocacy and the Vulnerable training for barristers. We are immensely grateful to the Facilitators who gave up their time to be trained and to train others: Master Sarah Clarke (Lead Facilitator), Peter Clark (Lead Facilitator, 187 Fleet Street), Sarah Vine (187 Fleet Street), Master Barraclough, Nina Ellin (6 Pump Court), Jo Cecil (Garden Court Chambers), Lt Col Jo Edwards (Service Prosecuting Authority) and Lt Col Bilal Siddique (Service Prosecuting Authority). Delegate feedback was excellent.

The Advocacy and the Vulnerable national training programme was developed by members of a working group headed by HHJ Rook QC in response to the Government's September 2014 paper, Our Commitment to Victims. Recognising and dealing appropriately with vulnerability is a skill that can be taught. There is a wide spectrum of vulnerabilities from age and background to physical or mental health and other developmental issues. This course has been designed to ensure that all advocates, when dealing with vulnerable witnesses, understand the key principles behind the approach to and questioning of vulnerable people in the justice system.

Training materials have been prepared by the Inns of Court College of Advocacy (ICCA) and training is being delivered by the Inns and Circuits.

Inner Temple will be running further Advocacy and the Vulnerable barrister training sessions on the following dates:

Tuesday 7 November 2017

5.45pm-8.45pm

Saturday 25 November 2017

9.30am-12.30pm or 1.30pm-4.30pm

Please note the following:

- Each course is open to practising barristers of any Inn
- Bookings will close approximately three weeks before each course to allow time for advance preparation
- Advance preparation is required (at least 10 hours) – materials for advance preparation are available at www.icca.ac.uk/advocacy-the-vulnerable/delegate-materials
- Barrister delegates are required to submit three sets of cross-examination questions one week before the course (details will be provided on booking) in order to attend the course.
- There is no course fee.

To book, please visit the Inner Temple website or contact Fiona Fulton for further information.

Pegasus Scholarships

Applications for the 2018 Pegasus Scholarships will open in early October and the closing date is 30 November 2017. Scholarships are available to tenants or employed barristers (of all four Inns) who have practised as a barrister for up to five years (not including pupillage). This is an opportunity to spend six to twelve weeks in another jurisdiction, seeing how its legal system works as well as making new friends and (possibly) escaping the worst of the British weather. For an application form, please access the Pegasus web pages via the Inner Temple website.

This summer, we welcomed four incoming overseas scholars who had just completed their LLM degrees at the University of Cambridge. The scholars worked in various chambers and also visited the Royal Courts of Justice, the Old Bailey and the Supreme Court.

The Inns of Court College of Advocacy – One Year On

by Derek Wood CBE QC

The Inns of Court College of Advocacy (ICCA) was established by the Council of the Inns of Court (COIC) on 1 May 2016, with generous support from the four Inns, to take over and expand upon the work of the Inns' Advocacy Training Council (ATC). In its first year ICCA has undertaken a formidable range of work, partly inherited from its predecessor and partly generated in the form of new projects.

The College's mission is to raise and maintain high standards in the practice and ethics of advocacy in courts and tribunals, and to disseminate best practice in those areas. We work both within our home jurisdiction of England and Wales and internationally. We have concentrated on the continuing education and training of barristers and advocates in practice, after formal qualification. Here are some examples of the work we have undertaken this year:

ADVOCACY AND THE VULNERABLE

In October ICCA organised a conference entitled 'Vulnerability and Power – Maintaining the Balance, the Client's Perspective', approximately 150 delegates attended. There was an extensive and varied range of sessions, to mention just a few: the psychiatric process within litigation, young people, autism, protecting clients' pre-trial, immigration and cultural vulnerability, distraught families and inquests and more. The feedback was extremely positive.

The College has also trained 64 lead facilitators who have subsequently begun to train others to deliver the 'Advocacy and the Vulnerable' programme to over 14,000 criminal advocates. The aim of the programme is to ensure high quality training is provided to advocates in the handling of vulnerable witnesses. Further information on the roll out and a full list of providers can be found on ICCA's website (www.icca.ac.uk/advocacy-the-vulnerable).

YOUTH JUSTICE ADVOCACY

ICCA has produced important guidance and a supplementary film specifically for practitioners representing children in the youth justice system. Children and young people who find themselves in trouble are generally some of the most disadvantaged in society with acute and complex educational, social and financial vulnerabilities. The materials are freely available on the College's website (www.icca.ac.uk/youth-justice-advocacy).

THE ADVOCATE'S GATEWAY (TAG) SECOND INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

On 2 and 3 June 2017, delegates from across the world arrived in London to attend our second TAG International conference entitled 'Access to Justice for Vulnerable People'. Speakers at the conference presented ground breaking research from a range of international jurisdictions in a variety of vulnerability-related subjects. Topics ranged from young defendants to women in the criminal justice system. Key highlights included a keynote address from Lady Dorrian, the Lord Chief Justice Clerk, which explained moves in Scotland to improve the way in which vulnerable and child witnesses are dealt with. A demonstration of advocacy with a vulnerable witness was given by our ICCA practitioners.

ETHICS

Following the publication in December 2015 of the Report 'The Ethical Capacities of New Advocates' by Professor Richard Moorhead and others of UCL, specially commissioned by the ATC, the College has established a standing Professional Ethics Training committee to carry work on this topic forward. Its immediate aim is to settle a suite of high quality training materials, equipped with teaching notes, to assist the Inns and Circuits in the training they deliver.

The Inns of Court College of Advocacy

The Council of the Inns of Court

STATISTICS AND THE COURT

ICCA has been working on a collaborative project with the Royal Statistical Society (RSS) in the production of a short booklet entitled Statistics and Probability for Advocates: Understanding the use of statistical evidence in courts and tribunals. The aim of the booklet is to introduce advocates to some of the basic techniques involved in the use of statistics and to point out some of the traps into which they and the courts can fall. Publication is expected later in 2017.

INTERNATIONAL WORK

The Inns College has continued the ATC's legacy of training internationally. In 2016-17 ICCA has delivered training in places including Poland, South Africa, The Hague, Zimbabwe, Nigeria and St Lucia.

In the latter half of 2016 the College delivered training in Sierra Leone, funded by ROLE UK. The training was intended to reignite the development a faculty of trainers in Sierra Leone that had initially begun with an ATC trip in 2014 (halted due to the Ebola outbreak). Such advocacy training is essential in ensuring justice by improving the effective functioning of the courts.

The College also delivered the first National Advocacy Training Programme sponsored by the American Inns of Court and held in Philadelphia. The course introduced the Hampel method to US attorneys who were looking to develop their trial advocacy skills and was deemed such a success that the College have been invited to deliver the programme again in 2017 in two US cities, Chicago and Tampa.

EXPERT EVIDENCE

Two training conferences are being organised (one in July, a second one in October), to be run in collaboration with the Specialist Bar Associations, on the subject of expert witnesses handling.

Further details are available via our website at www.icca.ac.uk/expert-evidence-training-conference.

If you are interested in any of the College's projects, please contact Phoebe Makin pmakin@icca.ac.uk for more details.

COIC Pupillage Matched Funded Scheme 2017

2015/2016 saw 40 pupillages supported by COIC's Pupillage Matched Funded Scheme, helping pupils in 37 sets of Chambers. This is an impressive improvement on the 14 pupillages supported in the first year of the scheme. Whilst precise figures are not available, it is clear that there is a strong correlation between the numbers of COIC match funded pupils who go onto secure tenancy. We know that almost 80% of supported pupils in 2015 went on to become tenants. Encouragingly, more and more sets of Chambers are applying for matched funded grants. COIC has already received 31 applications for 2018, as part of a growing trend in chambers applying for grants two years in advance.

The process operates by providing additional pupillages in chambers and other approved training organisations, predominantly engaged in legally aided work. The Inns of Court Match Pupillage Funding, already provided by chambers, with a grant of £6,000 to fund the first six months of a second pupillage. Alternatively, a grant of £3000 may be awarded where chambers only wish to take on one pupil. It is a requirement of the scheme that chambers undertake that the pupillages being funded are additional to those that they would have offered in any event. From 2018 chambers will be able to elect to receive an increased level of funding of £7,000 for matched funded pupil grants from 2018, provided that all pupils in chambers receive an income of at least £14,000 for the year (a figure closer to the London Living Wage).

Applications to match fund 2018-19 pupillages and 2019-20 pupillages are invited between 1 September 2017 and 19 October 2017. Decisions will be communicated during the week commencing 6 November. Online applications are available via the Council of the Inns of Court website www.coic.org.uk/pupillage-matched-funding.

To find out more about the scheme and how to apply, please email Hayley Dawes, COIC Secretary (hdawes@coic.org.uk)

Nathalie Lieven QC

Chair, COIC Pupillage Matched Funding Grants Committee

“We believe pupillage to be at the heart of this commitment. In both 2015 and 2016 we recruited two pupils where otherwise we would only have recruited one. The only reason we were able to recruit these additional pupils was the funding we received through the COIC Pupillage Matched Funding Scheme.”

The Council of the Inns of Court

Like many sets, Zenith continues to feel the downward pressure on publicly funded work. The impact has been felt both by Chambers in general and our family, crime and housing teams in particular. Nonetheless, we wish to maintain our commitment to publicly funded work. We believe pupillage to be at the heart of this commitment. In both 2015 and 2016 we recruited two pupils where otherwise we would only have recruited one. The only reason we were able to recruit these additional pupils was the funding we received through the COIC Pupillage Matched Funding Scheme. There is no doubt that this scheme is making a real contribution to the future of the publicly funded Bar.

Bronia Hartley

Head of Pupillage at Zenith Chambers

In late 2015, we found ourselves at a crossroads as a chambers; we are a small, mainly publicly-funded set and were considering how we could expand. The idea of pupillage was raised. It had been roughly ten years since we had offered pupillage but the tenants were clear that this option should be explored.

The financial aspects of offering pupillage were an obvious concern but the Pupillage Matched Funding Scheme allowed us to take a chance on pupillage and, in October 2016, we took on our first pupil. She has started her second-six and we are delighted that, with the support of the Inns of Court, we have been able to offer this opportunity in a very restricted market. We are certain that she will add to our chambers and will help maintain the quality of representation that is the hallmark of the independent Bar.

Thanks to the Pupillage Matched Funding Scheme, we can offer a further three pupillages over the next 18 months; opportunities for recent graduates that simply would not have been there without this Scheme. At a time when access to the profession is of great concern to chambers, the Scheme helps small, specialist sets like ours to offer pupillage in areas being deserted by those solely searching for financial gain rather than a drive to help the disadvantaged.

Joseph Lynch

Head of Pupillage at Central Chambers

The Inner Temple Book Prize

Once again we are planning to hold our triennial Book Prize. Next year will mark the fourth Inner Temple Book Prize, the first having been awarded in 2008 as part of the Inn's celebrations to mark the 400th anniversary of the grant by James I of the Temple's Royal Charter.

The prize was last held in 2015 as part of the Inn's Magna Carta celebrations with the main prize of £12,000 presented by the prize's patron Master HRH The Princess Royal to Alan Paterson for his book Final Judgment: The Last Law Lord published by Hart. The New Author's prize of £5,000 was won by Claire Fenton-Glynn for her book on Children's Rights in Intercountry Adoption published by Intersentia.

This time we are pleased to announce prizes for all short listed books, with awards of £500 for the Main Prize and £300 for New Authors.

These awards will go to all those who are judged to have made an outstanding contribution to the understanding of the law as administered in England and Wales. All aspects of the legal world will be considered including international law, comparative law, the law of the European Union, the Commonwealth (or other international organisation), legal history and biography, legal philosophy, sociology of law or criminology and the treatment of offenders.

To be eligible for an award the book must be an original work first published in print between the 1 January 2015 and 31 December 2017.

Nomination forms are available from our website. Please see the rules of entry section for more information on eligibility and please do contact Celia Pilkington cpilkington@innertemple.org.uk for more details.

India

On 21 June, the Inn hosted a seminar on Indian Legal Markets with Harvard Law School and RSG Consulting, a legal strategy consultancy. We welcomed a number of senior partners from top Indian law firms, general counsel and heads of Indian practices at international law firms. Speakers included Abijhit Mukhopadhyay, President (Legal) & General Counsel at Hinduja Group. The event coincided with the publication of a major book by Harvard University Press on the India's legal profession.

Europe

On 30 June, the Inn welcomed a group of students from the European Law Students' Association (ELSA) for discussions about the Bar and India's practice. Their annual conference takes place in London on 4 and 5 November.

Foreign & Commonwealth

On 11 July, the Sub-Treasurer represented the Inn at the Foreign & Commonwealth Office Reception for Heads of Mission.

Kazakhstan

On 12 July, the Inn hosted a roundtable meeting with judges from Kazakhstan, in collaboration with The Law Society.

New Zealand/Sri Lanka

The High Commissioners of New Zealand and Sri Lanka joined the Inn for the Summer Party on 13 July. They were hosted, respectively, by Master Tait and Master Goodman.

Spain

The Inn welcomed a visit from a group of students from the Instituto Superior de Derecho y Economía (ISDE), a legal training centre based in Spain, on 26 July. The students were participating on a study trip hosted by Brasenose College, Oxford, as part of their International Legal Practice Masters course. They heard from Master Acton-Davis and the Sub-Treasurer.

International Appointments and Membership Activity: Making more of Inner Temple members

The Inn's International Committee would be pleased to hear from any member with news of their, or any other Inner Templar's, appointment to an international court or in another jurisdiction. We would also be keen to learn more about the activities our members undertake overseas, including - but not limited to - advocacy training and lectures; and of books they publish, heavy legal tomes or otherwise. The Inner Temple has much influence; we want those at home to know quite how much, and those abroad to know how greatly they are valued. Please contact Jennie Collis, Secretary to the International Committee, at jcollis@innertemple.org.uk.

Croatia

The Inn once again sponsored a two-week multi-disciplinary master class course on The Law and Politics of Terrorism: In Search of Adequate Political, Military and Legal Responses to the Threat of Terrorism in the post-Cold War Era from 3-15 July, held in Dubrovnik, Croatia. Seven delegates from Inner Temple and Lincoln's Inn joined international post-graduates in the fields of Law, History, Sociology, Politics, International Relations, Journalism and European Studies.

Malaysia

Datin Faizah Jamaludin, President of the Malaysian Inner Temple Alumni Association, with Master James Foong at the recent launch in Kuala Lumpur of his book on The Malaysian Judiciary.

Nigeria

Chief Badru Olaogun visited the Inn on 4 August to mark the 50th anniversary of his Call to the Bar by Inner Temple in 1967. Today, at the age of 85, he is still practising at the Nigerian Bar and resident in Lagos. The Chief has been appointed a Life Member of the Honourable Body of Benchers at the Supreme Court of Nigeria. He was Chairman of the Nigerian Bar from 1987-89 and spent 20 years as a member of its National Executive Committee. He remembers fondly his time at the Inn as a student, particularly his visit to Cumberland Lodge. His advice for current students is to “work hard, be honest and persevere”.

Library

Welcome to New Students

The Library is involved in a series of events in the autumn for the benefit of new BPTC students.

Tours

The Library will be hosting tours for BPTC students from Monday 11 September to Friday 22 September 2016 from 10.30am to 4.30pm. Tours take about 15 minutes; there is no need to book in advance. Just come in and speak to a member of staff at the Enquiry Point. We are happy to give Library tours at any time throughout the year to students who are unable to visit during the period advertised above.

Open Afternoon

On 27 September students are invited to an open afternoon at the Library. The event will last from 1.00pm to 5.00pm and will begin in the Lawson Room, which is on the first floor just below the Library. Attendees will be welcomed by Library staff who will explain about the services on offer to students and how the Library is arranged. The afternoon will include tours, demonstrations of the databases and our web-based services. There will be an orientation quiz with a prize draw for those who complete it. All attendees will receive a tote bag containing an assortment of free gifts.

Introductory Evenings

On 26 September and 6 October the Deputy Librarian will be attending the Inn's introductory evenings for new students and will be happy to answer any questions about the Library and what it can offer.

Freshers' Events

Members of staff from the libraries of Inner Temple, Lincoln's Inn and Middle Temple will be attending freshers' events at the London Bar schools. This is a good opportunity to meet library staff and to ask questions about services. There will be a lucky dip and the chance to take home a variety of library merchandise and gifts from the electronic publishers.

Qualifying Sessions

The Library will again be offering legal research training as a qualifying session in the autumn. The session will be a basic introduction to legal research and will help prepare students as they move from the academic to the vocational stage of their careers.

The training session will be run twice as part of the Inn's BPTC Advocacy Day on 23 September, and once as a separate event on the evening of 11 October. Booking should be made via the Inn's website <https://portal.innertemple.org.uk>.

Plans are already being made to run a second qualifying session in May 2018. This will be a more advanced legal research training session.

Wildy – BIALL Award

In June three members of the library team attended the very enjoyable and informative annual conference of the British and Irish Association of Law Librarians in Manchester where the award for Wildy – BIALL Librarian of the Year 2017 was presented to Margaret Clay, Librarian at the Inner Temple. The award is given for making a "significant contribution to the legal information world".

Activities for Pupils

On 5 October 2017 the Library is running a training session on legal research for new pupils. This will be an overview identifying the essential points to remember when undertaking a research assignment.

The session will take place in the Drawing Room at the Inner Temple and will start at 6.00pm.

To register for a place please email trainingsessions@innertemple.org.uk.

We will also be holding two lunchtime induction sessions for new pupils on 4 and 17 October in the Committee Room at the Inner Temple at 1.00pm. Library staff will explain the services available to pupils and how to make the most of the Library.

Refreshments will be provided, and participants will receive an Inner Temple Library tote bag containing free gifts.

Those wishing to attend can register for a place by emailing vparkinson@innertemple.org.uk.

Law Courses & Lectures Online

We have curated a list of over 200 free legal education resources, including MOOCs, courseware, lecture collections and podcasts. It covers a range of topics

Transcripts Guide

A new edition of the Library's guide to sources of transcripts of judicial proceedings in England and Wales, last revised in 2011, is now available as a 174-page PDF document.

The guide is intended primarily for those who may need to obtain, or assist others to obtain, transcripts of the proceedings of courts and tribunals in England and Wales.

While the basic arrangement is unchanged in this new edition, all existing entries have been checked and brought up to date, new courts and tribunals created since 2011 have been added, both the content and the layout of entries have been enhanced, and general information provided in the introduction and the appendices has been

Garden

We nailed it!

Andrea Brunsendorf, Head Gardener

I have been reading Well-Tempered Garden ready for our next horticultural book club meeting and a quote by Christopher Lloyd struck a chord with me, “however labour-saving you make your hobby (gardening), you will never get more out of it than you put in”. Never a truer word was spoken, here at the Inner Temple Garden, we are busy reviewing our summer planting scheme’s successes and pitfalls.

As we approach autumn, I have a real sense of the back-to-school feeling, which perfectly dovetails in with gardening calendar. We are at the end of the first year of a three-year rotation of the current summer bedding scheme along Paper Buildings. Every fourth year, we redesign the summer planting and challenge ourselves to push the boundaries of a seasonal planting with innovative colour palate and unconventional plant varieties and combinations.

For this current rotation, we went for a restrained tropical look with banana-like cannas, mahogany hibiscus, yellow ox-eye from the North American prairie and South American salvias with moody lilac hues. Not to blow our own trumpet, we nailed it from the start!

Paper Buildings is a wind-swept stretch, which challenges any plant growth beyond one meter high. Good staking support allows dramatic plants to reach two meters tall and simply boom in their glory, softening the scale of the building behind. It was an epic undertaking to grid-stake 100 meters of border, a real labour of love, which we achieved in two days. Admittedly, the art of staking is a real guilty pleasure of mine, it appeals to the inner perfectionist in me. I find beauty in its symmetry, lines, form, variety and sculpture; and I know it has rubbed off on my team, who take pride in this kind of skilled craft. I have seen a lot of bad staking on my travels and my mantra has become stake early and deftly so no-one knows it is there.

We are very satisfied with the harmonious colours, without being tastefully dull. Next year, we would like to emphasise the silver foliage of Plectranthus ‘SilverShields’ by adding a large silver-leaved Eucalyptus as an additional backdrop to the border. We plan to weave more mahogany hibiscus through the lilac salvia to break up its moodiness. The Garden’s acclaimed USP is its long-flowering season due to our good plant selection and its mild urban climate. The clever selection of early blooming plants, including perennials, was a game-changer, kicking off the flowering season early by four weeks.

With the lessons learned from this summer and looking ahead to the next season, we feel encouraged that all our hard work has paid off. Christopher Lloyd wraps it up beautifully in this quote, “Now and again it seems worth taking the extra bit of trouble that brings in its train some rather exciting result”.

Unusual combination of Heliopsis helianthoides var. scabra ‘Summer Nights’ with Hibiscus ‘Mahogany Splendour’, Plectranthus ‘SilverShields’, Salvia ‘Amistad’ and Canna musifolia

THE 500TH ANNIVERSARY OF LUTHER'S REFORMATION

Martin Luther is said to have nailed his Ninety-Five Theses on the power of indulgences to the door of Wittenberg Church on 31 October 1517.

'The treasures of the gospel are nets with which one formerly fished for men of wealth. The treasures of indulgences are nets with which one now fishes for the wealth of men.'

– Luther, Theses 65-6.

Within three years the ensuing debate was breaking Western Christendom apart; within thirty, it had engendered protestant, 'evangelical' churches across much of Northern Europe. 'Luther wanted to talk about grace; his opponents wanted to talk about authority. That chasm of purposes explains how an argument about indulgences escalated into the division of Europe'. – D. MacCullough, Reformation, Penguin, 2003.

This service will round off our Choir's celebration of Luther in Stuttgart, Sindlingen, Tübingen and here in the Temple. It will be followed with a talk by Professor Lyndal Roper, Regius Professor of Modern History at the University of Oxford.

Please feel free as well to alert friends and colleagues to the event; we would like to offer every encouragement to the young musicians. We hope you can join us for this inaugural concert. May it be the first of many!

Public Discussion
Monday 30 October, 6.00pm
In the Temple Church.
The discussion is open to all.

TO CELEBRATE THE 800TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE CHARTER OF THE FOREST, 6 NOVEMBER 1217

By 1217 the King's Forest had absorbed one-third of the realm. The Forest was subject to the King's personal rule and justice, and all economic activity within it was subject to taxation or penalties. In 1217 the clauses in Magna Carta restraining the King's claims to Forest-land and its control were extracted, strengthened and issued as a separate Charter of the Forest. This promised a vast programme of 'disafforestation', returning land to commoners' use without fees to the King.

'When the Barons insisted on confirming rights that would benefit all of the people in the 13th c., they set society on a path for ensuring public rights generally. Parliament's later mandate to represent the people is forecast in chapters of the Forest Charter privileging commoners. When the Forest Charter established liberties of the forest for all, rights that sustain their economic and social lives, the Charter also anticipated what today is expressed in human rights instruments.'

- N.A. Robinson, Magna Carta and the Rule of Law, ABA, 2015.

The Charter was issued under the seal of William Marshal, hero of Magna Carta and Regent to the boy-king Henry III; in 1219 William was buried in the Temple Church where his effigy still lies.

History Society Lecture

Lord Sumner –

*‘A Hopeless Reactionary’ Or one of ‘The Greatest Exponents of The English Common Law
in all its long history’?*

Professor Tony Lentin
Wolfson College, Cambridge

John Andrew Hamilton, Viscount Sumner (1859-1934), was a highly controversial Law Lord. Verdicts on him remain mixed and mostly critical. As one of the ‘most formidable gladiators’ on the ‘Diehard’ wing of the Conservative Party, he aspired – unsuccessfully – to the Woolsack. Britain’s chief delegate on reparations at the Paris Peace Conference, he was notorious for his ‘hard-faced’ interventions there and on other sensitive political issues, notably the Amritsar ‘massacre’, the Irish settlement and the General Strike. He resigned from the Bench in 1930 to campaign against Indian independence.

Sumner’s reputation on the Bench is equally mixed. He was hailed in his day for his ‘legal and literary genius’, but his standing followed a mainly downward trajectory, eg. for his allegedly ‘infamous decision’ in Roberts v. Hopwood [1925] AC 578. Examining his reputation and his legacy as a judge, Tony Lentin puts the case for and against this redoubtable Inner Templar.

Tony Lentin is a Senior Member of Wolfson College, Cambridge, and a non-practising barrister of the Middle and Inner Temple. His recent books include The Last Political Law Lord: Lord Sumner (1859-1934) (2009) and Mr Justice McCardie (1869-1933): Rebel, Reformer, and Rogue Judge (2017).

GRAND DAY

Wednesday 8 November 2017

7.15pm Reception

7.45pm Dinner

The Inn's treasures will be on display from 6.45pm - 7.15pm, for those wishing to view them

Hosted by the Treasurer, Grand Day is the most prestigious member event of the Inn's calendar. Guests are invited to start the evening by viewing the Inn's treasures on display in the Library, including illuminations of the courts of Westminster and letters signed by Lady Jane Grey, Prince Edward and Charles I.

After a champagne reception, a three course dinner will be served in the sumptuous surroundings of the Hall, accompanied by fine wines selected by the Master of the Cellar. The evening will end with after-dinner entertainment.

Members may bring one guest each.
