The Inner Temple is Rising Up for Social Mobility

Over 100 employers from 18 sectors, who collectively employ over one million people, entered the 2018 Social Mobility Index. The Inner Temple has been ranked 24th – up eleven places compared to 2017 – out of the Top 50 UK employers who have taken the most action on social mobility in the workplace.

The Index is the creation of the Social Mobility Foundation and is published in partnership with sponsors The City of London Corporation. It ranks the UK’s employers on the actions they are taking to ensure they are open to accessing and progressing talent from all backgrounds.

This year the index found that having a workforce that is diverse in terms of social background is fast becoming as important to employers as being diverse in terms of gender and race.

Entrants included banks, law firms, Government departments, engineering firms, retail firms and technology companies.

Greg Dorey CVO, Sub-Treasurer (CEO) of the Inner Temple, commented:

“The barrister profession should be open to anyone, no matter their background. Our ranking today in the Social Mobility Index clearly shows that our school and university programmes are making a difference to the future of the profession. We’re delighted to be highlighted as an example of good practice in the official report just published by the Social Mobility Foundation.”

The Social Mobility Employer Index is a voluntary and free of charge survey that assesses employers across seven areas, including the work they do with young people; their recruitment and selection processes; and how people from lower income backgrounds progress within their organisations.

Education & Training

Student Training and Support

We are looking forward to welcoming our new BPTC student members to the Inn at Introductory events in September and October. Students will be given information on the Inn's qualifying sessions, which will include expert lectures, advocacy training, student residential conferences and presentational skills sessions, all designed to complement students' BPTC training and allow students to meet and learn from practising barristers and judges.

This year's student residential conferences will focus on the following topics:

Public Inquiries

Cumberland Lodge, December 2018

Immigration Law

Highgate House, February 2019

Domestic Violence and Family Law

Highgate House, May 2019

Our new students will also receive details on the support schemes we offer, including marshalling, mentoring, mock interviews and police liaison. They will also hear from the Presidents of the four student-run Inner Temple Societies (ITSA, Mooting, Debating and Drama) about how they can become involved in the Societies' activities.

The Education & Training team would like to take this opportunity to welcome our new BPTC students – we look forward to working with you this year and in the future.

Question & Answer Day

The Inn's annual Question & Answer Day for students interested in a career at the Bar took place on Sunday 24 June. The day was a huge success with students attending from a wide range of universities. In addition, AS and A Level students were also invited to attend. The day was opened by Rabah Kherbane (25 Bedford Row), who provided a detailed and useful view of the challenges and opportunities available at the Bar. The event provided an insight into different areas of practice and life as a junior practitioner, as well as an opportunity for students to gain valuable advice on pupillage applications and interviews. This was followed by a reception, during which students met and spoke informally with members of the Inn. Thanks go to all the members of the Bar who volunteered at this event.

Get involved with Outreach!

The Inn's outreach programme would not be possible without the support of the many members who give up their time to volunteer at events. The Inn needs your support with

Mentoring Scheme

The Mentoring Scheme aims to provide students with advice, guidance and a point of contact during their initial stages of becoming a barrister. Mentors are allocated at the beginning of the academic year and demand is always very high. This year is no exception, so we are in need of more volunteers. If you are a barrister of five years' Call or more and would like to help or would like some further information, please contact Georgina Everatt.

Insight Evenings

The Education and Training Department at the Inner Temple are hosting a series of Insight evenings on becoming a barrister and life at the Bar. The evenings are specifically to inform Year 12 and 13 students, university students and graduates. This year we are expanding our Insight events programme and are visiting more cities around the country than ever. The evenings include a panel session followed by a drinks reception and will be from 6.30pm to 8.30pm. Typically panelists talk for five minutes on their professional life and route to the bar and then questions are fielded from students. This part of the evening lasts for about one hour followed by the drinks reception at 7.30pm.

Upcoming events are as follows:

Cambridge – 16 October
Oxford – 19 October
Newcastle – 23 October
London – 25 October
Bristol – 30 October

The panels are currently full, but if you would like to volunteer your time at the Drinks Reception to speak to students, please contact Edwina Koroma.

Police Liaison Scheme

The Police Liaison Scheme aims to promote good relations between the Bar and the Police Service. The scheme allows BPTC students to visit police stations in one of four participating London boroughs and to accompany officers on patrol or in the CID Department. The scheme has helped many students interested in a career at the criminal Bar to become familiar with police station procedures and the ways in which incidents are dealt with. Visits will be arranged throughout the academic year. The scheme is a reciprocal one, with further events organised to give police officers a greater understanding of the work of barristers and judges. This includes a mock trial each year.

If you are interested in helping or in finding out more about the scheme, please contact Daisy Mortimer.

Act as a Witness in Advocacy Training

The Education & Training Team is recruiting BPTC students to act as witnesses in our mock trials for pupils. As well as gaining a qualifying session (when attending two separate mock trials), this is a great opportunity to take part in the Inn's advocacy training programme for pupils.

All the mock trials will take place at the Royal Courts of Justice from 5.30pm to 7.30pm. Further sessions will be available in February 2019.

We are currently recruiting for the following dates in 2018:

Tuesday 20 November
Wednesday 21 November
Tuesday 27 November
Wednesday 28 November

Students will be able to book for these dates via www.innertemple.org.uk/events. For further information, please contact Richard Loveridge or David Miller.

Marshalling Scheme

The Marshalling Scheme is run for the benefit of current BPTC students. Feedback from the students has shown that it has helped to increase their understanding of the judicial system and provide them with a new perspective on being both a barrister and a judge. Marshalling placements are allocated throughout the year and it is always a popular scheme for the students.

As always, we would welcome interest from judges around the country to help increase the number of opportunities we can provide for the Inn's newest members. If you are a judge and would be willing to have a student sit with you for one to five days, or if you would like further information on the scheme, please contact Richard Loveridge.

Mock Interviews

The Mock Interview Scheme gives students a chance to refine their interview technique with the support of an established barrister before they undertake a 'real' pupillage interview. The scheme is valued highly by our student members and consistently receives positive feedback. The scheme is looking for additional volunteers for the upcoming pupillage interview season. The time commitment is flexible but typically amounts to around 1–3 hours per year. We try to match up students with barristers in their preferred practice area and not at a chambers that they have applied to. You will only be contacted if you are matched with a student.

Please contact Edwina Koroma if you would like to volunteer for the scheme.

Pegasus Scholarships

Applications for the 2019 Pegasus Scholarships will open in early October and the closing date is 30 November 2018. Scholarships are available to tenants or employed barristers (of all four Inns) who have practised as a barrister for up to five years (not including pupillage). This is an opportunity to spend six to twelve weeks in another jurisdiction, seeing how its legal system works as well as making new friends and (possibly) escaping the worst of the British weather. To complete the application form, please access the Pegasus Trust web pages via the Inner Temple website.

This summer, we welcomed six incoming overseas scholars who had just completed LLM degrees at the University of Cambridge. The scholars worked in various chambers and also visited the Royal Courts of Justice, the Old Bailey and the Supreme Court.

Calling All Pupils!

The first of the Inn's compulsory advocacy courses for pupils will begin in October 2018. If you have not yet registered your pupillage with the BSB (and sent a copy of your form to the Inn), please contact David Miller as soon as possible. Even if you are not due to start pupillage until spring 2019, you must attend an advocacy course before the start of your second six, so please register your details as soon as possible. Failure to do so could result in your not being issued with a practising certificate.

The Practice Management Course will be held on Saturday 12 January 2019. This course is compulsory and information will be sent to pupils at the same time as the advocacy course dates.

Garden

A summer to remember

Sean Harkin Head Gardener

Taking a moment to look back at my first summer at the Inner Temple and my, what a summer. After a relatively cold and wet spring, we leapt straight into hot temperatures and arid conditions for the months of June and July; we experienced 47 consecutive days at the Inn with no rain, with the average temperatures consistently in the high 20s and some days creeping above 30°C.

The infamous summer of 1976, like the great storms of 1986 and 1989, was often referred to during my early horticultural studies as an example of gardening during extreme weather conditions. We did not quite reach the records of 1976 but it has been the closest to it that I have experienced. It is always nice to start a new role with a challenging season!

A summer such as this highlights the varied and extensive plant collection we have in the Garden and their varying growing conditions. It brings to mind the late plantswoman, Beth Chatto's legendary mantra of 'right plant, right place' in which one chooses the plants in relation to what will thrive in the conditions present. Even when following this mantra, each season is different and observing how plants react is one of the fascinating things about gardening.

Star performers in this summer's heat included Althea cannabina, known commonly as the hemp-leaved marsh mallow. The common name suggests it can enjoy some moisture, though the tall willowy stems and small leaves reduce transpiration and so it performed very well in the dry heat. The small pink mallow flowers open for the whole summer and add an airy romantic grace to the garden. This is a plant I would highly recommend.

Enjoying the shade on a hot summer's day

Althea cannabina in foreground with High Borders behind

Other performers included the Russian sage (Perovskia atriplicifolia 'Blue Spire'); Californian Tree Poppy (Romneya coulteri); ornamental grasses (Stipa, Calamagrostis, Cortaderia); and our oak leaved Hydrangeas (Hydrangea quercifolia) which have greater drought tolerance than other Hydrangeas. Likewise, the wonderful tropical leaved Canna musifolia 'Grande' which we used extensively in planters (especially around the pond) this summer, needed much less watering than its lush foliage would suggest.

For my first summer, I have been conscious not only to observe the plants but how people use and enjoy the garden. During the heat our majestic Plane trees have provided the much-needed shade, with the sloped lawn that gently rises to meet them on the south side of the garden being one of the most pleasant areas of the garden. I have loved seeing the changing patterns the trees cast onto the bank on a sunny day and look forward to seeing how these change in the low beautiful September light.

I very much believe in the healing power of gardens to bring beauty, calmness and joy to people's lives. For the first year this summer, as part of the Inn's Health and Wellbeing initiative we had a sunflower growing competition amongst the Inn's staff. Our Senior Gardener, Sophie, did a fantastic job organising it, from the contestants sowing their seeds into plant pots, which they then took to their window sills to nurture, before being planted out into the ground. Many visitors stopped to admire the sunflowers.

It was a perfect summer's lunchtime when we gathered for a picnic for the results.

I joined our Sub-Treasurer, Greg, and the Master of Wellbeing, Master Spearing, to judge the contestants. Climbing the ladder to measure the various heights and size of flowers it was hard not to regain a childlike wonder at how amazing it is that these have sprouted from one small seed within a matter of months. For a summer that has been dominated by the sun, it felt the perfect emblem for my first summer at the Inn.

Bloomsbury Professional Online

The Library now subscribes to the Bloomsbury Professional Online Service which gives full text access to 176 textbooks, loose-leaves and journals in over 20 practice areas including company and commercial, employment, environment, family, personal injury, property and Scots law. The service is available within the Library and we also have a limited number of log-ins which allow us to make the service available to Inner Temple barrister members by remote access. Priority will be given to members outside London who are unable to visit the Library in person.

Please email bloomsbury@innertemple.org.uk if you are interested in accessing this service remotely.

Transcripts Guide

We have reissued our guide to sources of transcripts after carrying out some limited updating of the edition published in 2017. The latest versions of the HMCTS form EX107 and guidance notes (both of them recently amended and expanded) are now included; the procedure for obtaining transcripts of hearings at the Royal Courts of Justice and at some other London courts has been clarified; and some recent name changes affecting the High Court have been incorporated.

The guide, which is available as a 176 page PDF, includes new courts and tribunals created since 2011 as well as the changes made to HM Courts and Tribunals Service's transcription service in 2017. In most cases the service providers included in the guide were consulted directly in order to ensure that the information given about their service is as accurate as possible.

Details on how to purchase the guide can be found on our website www.innertemplelibrary.org.uk

Welcome to New Students

The Library is involved in a series of events in the autumn for the benefit of new BPTC students.

Tours

The Library will be hosting tours for BPTC students from Monday 17 September to Friday 28 September 2017 from 10.30am to 4.30pm. Tours take about 20 minutes; there is no need to book in advance. Just come in and speak to a member of staff at the Enquiry Point. We are happy to give Library tours at any time throughout the year to students who are unable to visit during the period advertised above.

Open Afternoons

On 25 September students are invited to an open afternoon at the Library. The event will last from 1pm to 5pm and will begin in the Lawson Room, which is on the first floor just below the Library. Attendees will be welcomed by Library staff who will explain about the services on offer to students and how the Library is arranged. The afternoon will include tours of the Library and demonstrations of the databases and of our own web-based services. There will be an orientation quiz with a prize draw for those who complete it. All attendees will receive a tote bag containing an assortment of free gifts.

Another open afternoon will take place on 5 October for the Inn's students who are not based in London. The event will last from 1pm to 5pm and will begin in the Lawson Room.

Introductory Evenings

On 25 September and 5 October the Deputy Librarian will be attending the Inn's introductory evenings for new students and will be happy to answer any questions about the Library and what it can offer.

Qualifying Sessions

We will be offering legal research training as a qualifying session in the autumn. The session will be a basic introduction to legal research and will help prepare students as they move from the academic to the vocational stage of their training. The session will be run twice as part of the Inn's BPTC Advocacy Day on 22 September and once as a separate event on the evening of 10 October. Booking should be made via the Inn's website.

Any questions about tours or training should be sent to tdennis@innertemple.org.uk.

NHS - 70th Anniversary

The NHS celebrated its 70th anniversary in July. To mark this occasion we put together a selection of key legal events and NHS milestones in a display which can be seen on the panelling throughout the Library. It is also available in a booklet format in the Library and on our website.

Manuscript Display

The manuscripts and books which will be on display for Grand Day on 7 November will also be available in the Library during the afternoon for members to view.

Patrick Barrington: cryptanalysis and hippopotami

Ben Taylor, Archives Assistant

Patrick Barrington was a poet and a codebreaker whose family history with the Inner Temple stretched back over two centuries. He was admitted to the Inn in 1934, two hundred and forty years after his six-times-great uncle John, 1st Viscount Barrington of Ardglass in County Down. John's third son Daines Barrington was also admitted as a member in 1745 and lived in chambers at 6 King's Bench Walk for most of his life.

All the Barringtons of the Inner Temple are interesting characters, though none had a particularly stellar legal career. The first viscount was much more active as a politician and campaigner for the rights of religious dissenters than as a barrister. Daines Barrington served as a judge for some thirty years but is remembered more for his catholic interests as a naturalist and antiquary; which encompassed languages, gardening, child prodigies and polar exploration.

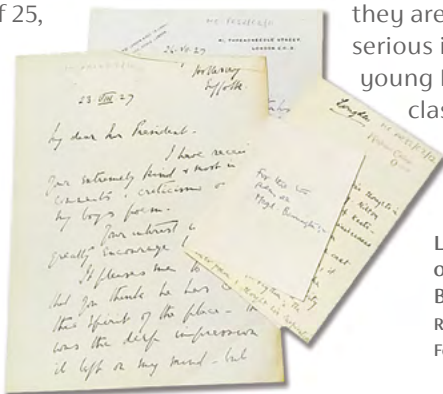

Patrick, the 11th and last Viscount Barrington, is the most mysterious of the three. He is best known as a writer of humorous poems for Punch magazine, with titles like "I Had a Hippopotamus" and "The Diplomatic Platypus". Besides this, though, we have little information about him. We know from the Inner Temple's records that he was admitted on 18 January 1934, at the age of 25, and was called to the Bar on 5 June 1940. This seems to have been the extent of his achievements in the field of the law; only five months later, he was awarded a 2nd Lieutenant's commission in the Royal Artillery. At some point soon afterwards, he found his way to Hut 10, Bletchley Park, where he worked on cracking German and Japanese air force codes until the end of the war.

Patrick studied PPE at Magdalen College, Oxford, whence he graduated in 1930 with a third-class degree. As luck would have it, I spend half my week as the archivist's assistant at Magdalen College, so I have been able to investigate Patrick Barrington's early career a little more fully. In the College library and archives I found three letters and two printed poems: evidence of Barrington's early literary efforts.

Two of the letters are from Patrick's father Bernard to Sir Herbert Warren, then President of Magdalen College and a former Professor of Poetry at Oxford. Bernard sent Warren a copy of a poem his son had written for the Hervey Verse Prize in 1926. Warren's reply is not preserved, but Bernard was clearly sufficiently encouraged by Warren's response to send him a second poem, written the year after for the same competition.

The two Hervey Prize poems are very different from Barrington's poems for Punch: they are both much longer and entirely serious in tone. Perhaps unsurprisingly, the young Barrington seems to have felt that classical allusions and musings on posterity would go down better with the judges than would whimsical riffing on animals with funny names. Be that as it may, neither poem won him the prize.

While we do not have Warren's own thoughts on Barrington's work, he thought the poems worth showing to Robert Longden, a young Classics Fellow at Magdalen who was later to become Master of Wellington College. Longden wrote back to Warren with his comments. Barrington's first poem,

"Thoughts in a Library", impressed him: "Milton rewritten in the light of Keats... all seems freshly put. And he obviously has great receptivity and an ear for rhythm." "In the other poem," Longden added, though, "I thought his inspiration gave out".

Here are two extracts from Barrington's poems: readers can judge for themselves whether Longden's assessments were accurate.

The Diplomatic Platypus

I had a duck-billed platypus when I was up at Trinity,
With whom I soon discovered a remarkable affinity.
He used to live in lodgings with myself and Arthur Purvis,
And we all went up together for the Diplomatic Service.
I had a certain confidence, I own, in his ability,
He mastered all the subjects with remarkable facility;
And Purvis, though more dubious, agreed that he was clever,
But no one else imagined he had any chance whatever.
I failed to pass the interview, the board with wry grimaces
Took exception to my boots and then objected to my braces,
And Purvis too was failed by an intolerant examiner
Who said he had his doubts as to his sock-suspender's stamina...

I Had A Hippopotamus

...I had a Hippopotamus, I loved him as a friend
But beautiful relationships are bound to have an end
Time takes alas! our joys from us and rids us of our blisses
My hippopotamus turned out to be a hippopotamisses

My house keeper regarded him with jaundice in her eye
She did not want a colony of hippotami
She borrowed a machine gun from her soldier nephew, Percy
And showed my hippopotamus no hippopotamercy

My house now lacks that glamour that the charming creature gave
The garage where I kept him is now as silent as the grave
No longer he displays among the motor tyres and spanners
His hippopomastery of hippopotamanners

No longer now he gambols in the orchards in the spring
No longer do I lead him through the village on a string
No longer in the morning does the neighbourhood rejoice
To his hippopotamusically-modulated voice.

I had a hippopotamus but nothing upon earth
Is constant in its happines or lasting in its mirth
No joy that life can give me can be strong enough to smother
My sorrow for that might-have-been-a-hippopota-mother

PEERAGE LAW, ITS EVOLUTION AND HEREDITARY
PEERAGE AND BARONETCY CLAIMS IN THE 21ST CENTURY

Thomas Woodcock CVO DL FSA, Garter Principal King of Arms

The office of Garter Principal King of Arms has played a central role in succession for all Peerages and Baronetcies created in England, Wales and Northern Ireland. This includes weeding out pretenders, such as 17th century claimant to the Earldom of Northumberland, James Percy, whose claim was dismissed by the House of Lords and was sentenced to stand in Westminster Hall bearing a paper on his breast inscribed "The false and impudent Pretender to the Earldom of Northumberland."

In his lecture, Thomas Woodcock will give a survey of Peerage Law from the 17th century to the present day.

GEOFFREY NICE FOUNDATION MASTERCLASS

The fifth Geoffrey Nice Foundation Masterclass on Law, History, Politics and Society in the Context of Mass Atrocities, this year on the topic of Political Expediency Behind International Criminal Courts, took place from 2-13 July. The key objectives of the Foundation are to advance a multi-disciplinary understanding of international criminal justice and to build an international network of individuals with shared interests and complementary knowledge and experience. The Inn sponsored four junior barrister members to join the cohort of 35 MA, PhD and Post-PhD participants from legal, historical, political and sociological disciplines, who attend from the Balkans, Turkey, Russia, Australia and South Korea. The group heard from Inner Temple members Master Nice, Master Cayley, Master Bonomy, Sabina Garahan, Aarif Abraham and Rabah Kherbane, in addition to former judges from the International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia and the former Presidents of Bosnia and Herzegovina; and of Kosovo.

International Appointments and Membership Activity: Making more of our members

The Inn's International Committee would like to hear from members with news of their, or any other Inner Templar's, appointment to an international court or in another jurisdiction. We would also be keen to learn more about the activities our members undertake overseas, including – but not limited to – advocacy training; lectures; and of books they publish.

Brahms Requiem is one of the greatest monuments of the choral repertoire. Its deeply moving, profound and powerful music has touched the lives of so many since its first performance almost exactly 160 years ago. However, this performance will be uniquely special as the Temple musicians present an exciting new version, for much smaller forces than the original. The added sensitivity in the sublime acoustic of the Temple Church is sure to make this concert a truly memorable experience.

We shall remember them

Richard Snowdon, Director of Properties

The 'Hundred Days Offensive', which was to lead to the end of four years of bloody conflict and an Allied victory in the First World War, began at Amiens on 8 August 1918.

A decade later, on 8 August 1928, the British Legion (as it was then known) organised for veterans and war widows to visit the battlefields of the Somme and Ypres before marching to the Menin Gate in Ypres. Exactly 90 years later, on Wednesday 8 August 2018, thousands of Legion representatives recreated the 1928 Battlefields Pilgrimage. They visited the same battlefields and paraded 1,200 branch standards through the town of Ypres, mustering at the Menin Gate as their forebears had done 90 years before.

The ceremony was attended by political, religious and military representatives from the Commonwealth and Belgium to commemorate the last 100 days of the First World War and remember the sacrifice of those who fought and died. 1,500 wreaths were laid by Legion members at the Menin Gate.

The Menin Gate stands at the eastern edge of Ypres and was rebuilt in the 1920s as a War Memorial recording the names of Allied soldiers whose bodies were never found. It is maintained by the Commonwealth

War Graves Commission (CWGC), and was unveiled on 24 July 1927.

Of the 300,000 soldiers killed in Flanders, 90,000 have no grave. 55,000 of these soldiers are commemorated on the Menin Gate and the remainder at Tyne Cot Commonwealth War Cemetery. Tyne Cot also contains 12,000 individual graves and is the largest of many Commonwealth cemeteries in the area.

As part of the commemoration, and following the ceremony, the London Welsh Male Voice Choir, of which I have been a member for eight years, was invited to begin an afternoon of comradeship and reflection with a musical performance in the main square in Ypres.

© John Downing MBE

On a personal note, it was an emotional return to Ypres, as I had visited in 2009, shortly before joining the Inn. It was a journey with my mother to visit the grave of her father's youngest brother, Benjamin Franklin (Frank) Kelly of 1st Btn Royal Welch Fusiliers, who was killed, aged 23, in October 1914 during the First Battle of Ypres. He is buried at Tyne Cot. From the stage I looked across the main square in Ypres towards the beautiful Cloth Hall, faithfully rebuilt after the War, and thought that the view would have been familiar to Frank. It was a very moving experience.

The repertoire sung by the choir reflected the event and included a mix of pieces from different genres. The Man We Never Knew is a poem by an unknown Canadian author, put to music by the choir's Musical Director, Edward-Rhys Harry, which asks the listener to pause and reflect on the men fighting for freedom on foreign shores. Men of Harlech is perhaps best known as the piece sung by the Welsh soldiers during the 1964 film Zulu. Tell My Father, from the musical The Civil War, is a moving plea by a dying soldier to his brother to tell their father that he died with pride and courage. American Trilogy, made famous by Elvis Presley, includes excerpts from three 19th century songs; Dixie, The Battle Hymn of the Republic and All My Trials. You'll Never Walk Alone is from the 1945 musical Carousel. Va, Pensiero is from Nabucco by Giuseppe Verdi and reflects a patriotic yearning for a lost country. Myfanwy is a famous Welsh piece, sung a capella, which tells of unrequited love. Rhys, a plea for peace, and Rachie, a call to arms in God's name, are well-known Welsh hymns.

The finale of the concert, with the Central Band of the Royal British Legion, included Down By The Riverside, a well-known spiritual, and a medley of songs synonymous with the First World War, including It's A Long Way To Tipperary, Roses Of Picardy, Over There, Keep The Home Fires Burning and Pack Up Your Troubles which went down well with the large audience. An impromptu encore of Jerusalem and Land of Hope and Glory concluded the event.

After the concert, the choir left Ypres to return to Bruges, paying its respects en route at the grave of a famous Welsh poet, Ellis Evans; better known by his Welsh Bardic name of Hedd Wyn, which translates as Blessed Peace. Evans was killed in the Third Battle of Ypres, on 31 July 1917, and was awarded a posthumous poetry award at the 1917 National Eisteddfod of Wales.

The choir also visited the memorial to all those of Welsh descent who took part in the War, situated at Pilkem Ridge, and were joined at both these stops by HE Ms Alison Rose, Her Majesty's Ambassador to the Kingdom of Belgium, who addressed the choir and tour party. The Last Post was played and the choir sang Mae Hen Wlad Fy Nhadau; the Welsh national anthem. It was a moving and special tribute.

My attendance at this event was facilitated by the Inn's Volunteering Policy, which allows Inn staff to undertake up to three days of annual volunteering for charitable purposes. I was proud and honoured to sing with the choir at this memorable event representing my family, the Inn and the choir.

GRAND DAY

Wednesday 7 November 2018

The Inn's treasures will be on display from 6.45pm - 7.15pm, for those wishing to view them.

Hosted by the Treasurer, Grand Day is the most prestigious member event of the Inn's calendar. Guests are invited to start the evening by viewing the Inn's treasures on display in the Library, including illuminations of the courts of Westminster and letters signed by Lady Jane Grey, Prince Edward and Charles I.

After a champagne reception, a three course dinner will be served in the sumptuous surroundings of the Hall, accompanied by fine wines selected by the Master of the Cellar. The evening will end with after-dinner entertainment.
