Sub-Treasurer

Greg Dorey CVO Sub-Treasurer

It is a great pleasure and privilege to have taken on the role of Inner Temple's Sub-Treasurer from shortly before Easter. As an historian, by University degree and personal interest, I could not hope to be working in a venue more redolent of tradition with a purpose. And as someone whose personality preferences are associated with delivering and value-added activities, I am especially glad to have joined the progressive Inn at a time when we have an opportunity to show how we are relevant to the 21st Century and to the public benefit.

I join Inner Temple from a previous career primarily built on public service, the majority of it with the British Diplomatic Service (and most recently as Ambassador to Budapest and then Addis Ababa). There will be those (presumably not my interview panel) who ask what a diplomat can bring to the table of an Inn of Court. Of course there are the obvious ambassadorial roles, engaging with our overseas partners and UK-based stakeholders. But nowadays, as a senior British Ambassador, I was responsible not merely for delivering policy work but also for performance management, finances and procurement; information and communications; running the estate; and project portfolio management. I had to meet rigorous audit and health and safety requirements; and ensure the safety and security of my team; while promoting high morale, inclusivity and diversity. I was also the steward of two historic Residences, expected to look after the fabric, artworks and valuable books and furniture in my care. There is therefore much more read-across into the Sub-Treasurer's job description than might be apparent at first flush. And I have to say that my more purely diplomatic skills have been in high demand in my first few weeks in the job...

There are few positions in the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) which do not require considerable interaction with the law – whether working closely with legal advisers; encouraging bilateral or multilateral legal relationships; or promoting the rule of law in places which badly need it. In Hungary after the Iron Curtain was torn apart, or in Hong Kong in the aftermath of the Handover, it was a rare week when I did not interact with senior legal figures from the UK. But even I had to resort to Google when, towards the end of my time in Ethiopia I received an out-of-the-blue invitation from the Reverend and Valiant Master of the Temple to join a mixed party of Masters of the Bench of the Inner and Middle Temple Inns of Court for dinner on the last night of their visit to the ancient cities and rock-hewn churches of that fascinating country. The visitors were much more fun than their forbidding designations suggested, and my wife Alison and I relaxed so much over the course of a well-fuelled evening that I have no idea how much sense I made when suddenly called on to give an impromptu presentation on Her Majesty's Government's policy towards Ethiopia. There is truly no such thing as a free dinner.

I kept in touch with some of these interestingly-titled visitors after my return to London, and was happy to be invited to an extremely enjoyable Inner Temple Guest Night and the odd lunch in the best canteen I have ever come across. Then my last few months in the FCO were spent advising Ministers on a major litigation case, involving occasional visits to 2 Temple Gardens for case management conferences. There were other associations too, for example when I discovered that my last official senior visitor in Addis Ababa, HRH The Princess Royal, who stayed in the British Residence for three days in her role as President of Save the Children in 2015, was also a Royal Bencher at Inner Temple. So there was a slight sense of fate and inevitability when I took an unexpected call from some recruiters just under a year ago who suggested I might like to take a look at the vacancy advertisement for the job of Sub-Treasurer to Inner Temple. After I had done so, I was clear that I really wanted this job. And at the end of a frankly rather gruelling appointment process (I really don't want to be cross-examined by five senior British lawyers simultaneously ever again) I had to pinch myself when the Chairman of the panel called me to say the role was mine if I wanted it.

Another piece of serendipity was that our family home had been in Templecombe in East Somerset until we moved to Chichester two years ago. Templecombe in its heyday was the treasury and recruitment centre for the Knights Templar. A representation of the Shroud of Turin (which was allegedly in the custody of the Knights at one stage) painted on wood hangs on its wall to this day – it was discovered in a woodshed in the early 20th Century and survived an attempt by the Vicar of the day to clean it with Vim in his bathtub. (It is now valued at some £0.25 million – who knows what the Vim wiped off the price, let alone the paintwork. There are also other theories about what the painting really represents.) Anyhow, I digress – suffice it to say that we were well aware of the historical link with Temple Church when we lived there.

My wife, Alison, and I have experienced a very, and much appreciated, warm welcome into the Inner Temple community since my appointment last October and our arrival here in March. And it does feel very much like a community: rather like the FCO was when I first joined it, if no more. Though newcomers, it now feels as if we have been part of Inner Temple for a very long time – somewhat as if I have stepped straight into the shoes of Chaucer's Maunciple. Of course he was supposed to be far less educated than his legal masters but much more cunning, and indeed appeared to be overcharging them, so I wouldn't want to take the analogy too far.

We do not live in Chaucer's England, nor do we exist in some sort of modern Gormenghast. We have a precious heritage to look after, but we also need to be constantly seeking ways to make it relevant, dynamic, inclusive, diverse and progressive. I look forward very much to helping Inner Temple evolve sensitively in the coming years and I am hugely enthusiastic about being part of this amazing and irreplaceable institution.

Inner Temple Schools Project

On 17 April, the Outreach Team hosted the final Schools Project event of the academic year in collaboration with a range of schools from across the country and several of our social mobility partners.

The day-long seminar comprised a presentation on pursuing a career at the Bar, panel discussions on life as a barrister in different practice areas, and group case law and plea in mitigation workshops. We were especially privileged to have the assistance of several of the Inn's student members who provided valuable insight to life on the BPTC, approaches to scholarships and tips on securing legal work experience. The success of these events is largely attributable to the generosity of those who offer their time and expertise. Therefore, we would like to thank everyone who participated:

5 April: Master Toby Hooper, Farrhat Arshad, Master Eleanor Laws, Francesca O'Neill, Alejandra Llorente-Tascon, Jinisha Purohit, Gabriel Olufadeji, Jonathan Taylor and Rahul Varma.

To find out more about volunteering for the Inner Temple schools project, please contact Daisy Mortimer.

Advocacy Prize For Pupils

The final of the Pupils Advocacy Prize was held at the Inn in May. The prize is awarded annually to the two pupils who demonstrate the best advocacy skills at the year's compulsory pupils' advocacy courses. Congratulations are due to Spencer Turner (5 Pump Court) who received the Jarman Advocacy Award of £1000, and to runner-up Sabrina Goodchild (Gough Square Chambers), who received the Davis Advocacy Award of £500. The Inn is very grateful to the family and friends of the late Nicholas Jarman QC and to his former chambers (4KBW, Chambers of Timothy Raggatt QC), and to Master Simon Davis and his wife Caroline for their generous support of these awards.

Inner Temple Pupil Supervisor Training

The Inn once again held its annual Pupil Supervisor Training Session in Hall on Thursday 3 May. Approximately 50 prospective pupil supervisors from both the employed and self-employed Bar took part in a 3 hour programme of talks and discussion sessions designed to prepare them for the challenges pupil supervisors typically face. A panel of speakers, including Master Glick, Edward Levey, Diya Sen Gupta, Rachel Coyle, Rehana Azib, Tom Street, Julia Witting and Master Spearing, gave talks on a wide variety of issues relating to pupillage and supervision. The trainees were split into discussion groups ably led by experienced pupil supervisors, to whom we are exceptionally grateful. Thanks must go to all the speakers and group leaders who gave up their time to attend, with particular gratitude owed to Master Glick, for chairing the session.

Calling all New Pupils!

If you have secured pupillage, please remember to register your pupillage with the Bar Standards Board and also with the Inn. Please visit www.innertemple.org.uk/pupils or contact David Miller for further information and a Pupillage Registration Form.

Advocacy and the Vulnerable

The Advocacy and the Vulnerable national training programme was developed by members of a working group headed by HHJ Rook QC in response to the Government's September 2014 paper, Our Commitment to Victims. Recognising and dealing appropriately with vulnerability is a skill that can be taught. This course has been designed to ensure that all advocates, when dealing with vulnerable witnesses, understand the key principles behind the approach to and questioning of vulnerable people in the justice system.

The case materials and videos developed to support the training are available at www.icca.ac.uk/advocacy-the-vulnerable/delegate-materials. It is anticipated that Advocacy and the Vulnerable training will become mandatory for any advocate wishing to undertake publicly funded work in serious sexual offence cases involving vulnerable witnesses.

Further dates for Advocacy and the Vulnerable training sessions later this year are still to be confirmed. If you are a fully qualified practising barrister who would like to express an interest in attending a future session, please email vwtraining@innertemple.org.uk with your name, chambers/organisation and contact details.

Details of forthcoming courses will be publicised on www.innertemple.org.uk/vulnerable

If you would be interested in training as a Facilitator to deliver future courses at the Inn, please email vwtraining@innertemple.org.uk. To train as a Facilitator, you should have significant experience in dealing with vulnerable witnesses in sexual offences cases.

Advocacy Training Faculty

The Inn's dedicated Advocacy Trainers provide compulsory advocacy training courses for pupils and new practitioners and are increasingly being called upon to provide specialist advocacy training for established practitioners. If you are over seven years' Call and would be interested in undertaking the October advocacy teacher-training course to support this core function of the Inn, please contact David Miller.

Question & Answer Day

In conjunction with the Junior Bar Association, the Inner Temple is running its annual Question & Answer Day for prospective members on Sunday 24 June 2018. Question and Answer Day gives university students the opportunity to participate in a number of workshops on scholarships, applying for pupillage and life as a pupil/junior tenant.

The Inn is seeking practitioner members to take part in panel sessions, particularly those who have a disability or who came to the Bar later in life. Please contact Struan Campbell.

Mental Health and Capacity

The final student conference weekend of the year took place at Highgate House over the weekend of 18-20 May and focussed on the various legal quandaries surrounding Mental Health. The 72 BPTC students in attendance heard from a panel of speakers with significant expertise in this area, including Master Juliet May (who was also kind enough to Chair the panel), Dr Oliver Lewis (Doughty Street Chambers), Professor Gisli Gudjonsson CBE (Institute of Psychology) and Chief Inspector Michael Brown OBE. The students also heard from Paul Farmer CBE (MIND) who gave the key note speech on the Friday evening. Students were invited to witness a mock trial concerning the topic at hand, participated in practical problem-solving exercises, and were given the opportunity to practise their advocacy skills and receive feedback from senior practitioners.

We would like to thank Master Infield and Alex Grigg (Garden Court Chambers) for organising the weekend. We would also like to thank our speakers and the members across several circuits who gave up their weekends to meet and teach students on this qualifying session course.

New Practitioners' Advocacy & Ethics Course

The first of the Inn's annual Advocacy and Ethics courses for New Practitioners took place in April. The advocacy element of the course was held at Wotton House in Dorking, from 13-15 April. 36 junior barristers, split into civil and criminal groups, were given the opportunity to cross-examine real expert medical witnesses. The after-dinner speech on the Saturday night was given by Master Taylor (HHJ Deborah Taylor). The Ethics session took place on 23 April at the Inn, newly revised for 2018 to allow New Practitioners to tackle a series of hypothetical ethical problems using interactive voting software. As always, the Education & Training Team would like to thank all those who gave up their time to teach, speak or attend the sessions as observers. The second course for this year takes place from 15-17 June (advocacy) and 21 June (ethics).

Insight Evenings

The Education and Training department at the Inner Temple are hosting a series of Insight evenings on becoming a Barrister and life at the Bar. The evenings are specifically to inform Year 12 and 13 students, University students and Graduates. This year we are expanding our Insight events programme and are visiting more cities around the country than ever. The evenings include a panel session followed by a drinks reception and will be from 6.00pm - 8.30pm. Typically, panelists talk for five minutes on their professional life and route to the bar and then questions are fielded from students. This part of the evening lasts for about one hour followed by the drinks reception.

Upcoming events as follows:

Cambridge	16 October
Oxford	19 October
Newcastle	23 October
London	25 October
Bristol	30 October
Cardiff	6 November

If you would like to volunteer your time as either a panelist, or at the drinks reception to speak to students, kindly contact Edwina Koroma.

Mock Interviews

The Mock Interview Scheme gives students a chance to refine their interview technique with the support of an established barrister before they undertake a 'real' pupillage interview. The scheme is valued highly by our student members and consistently receives positive feedback. Since the pupillage interview season is in full swing, the scheme needs more volunteers. The time commitment is flexible but typically amounts to around 1–3 hours per year. Please contact Edwina Koroma.

Outreach

The Outreach Team organises a range of outreach activities for school and university students at the Inn and across England and Wales. If you are interested in helping with these events, please contact Struan Campbell or Daisy Mortimer. We are particularly keen to hear from members on circuit.

Group Leaders/Judges for Student Residential Weekends

The Education & Training Team organises three student conference weekends a year at external venues in Windsor and Northamptonshire. The weekends focus on a particular legal topic and include panel presentations from experts in that topic, as well as sentencing exercises and advocacy exercises. Previous weekends have covered a broad range of topics including terrorism, the family court, deaths in custody, the impact of social media on the legal system, the jury system and vulnerable witnesses. Barrister members over seven years' Call act as group leaders and judicial members judge the student advocacy exercise.

If you would like to volunteer to be a group leader or judge at a future weekend, please contact Julia Armfield.

Regional Qualifying Sessions

BPTC students at providers outside of London are able to organise up to three qualifying sessions locally. These may be lectures, advocacy training, mooting or debating sessions followed by a reception with members of the local Bar. These sessions are subsidised by the Inn. Our student members would greatly appreciate the support of local members for these sessions. If you would be willing to help with future sessions, please contact Georgina Everatt.

Garden

The start of a new adventure

Sean Harkin, new Head Gardener

I am writing this on my recent appointment as Head Gardener of the Inner Temple. It's a bit of a cliché, but it really is a dream come true to have taken on this role. For this post I thought it would be good to introduce myself and share a few highlights of my previous work, giving you some background on who is taking over the helm of this precious garden.

Despite studying International Relations and Politics at the University of Sheffield, I soon realised after graduating that gardening was the right path for me. From there I haven't looked back. My horticulture career has taken me to some of the most wonderful places across the world, working in Kirstenbosch Botanics, Hestercombe, RHS Wisley, Tresco Abbey Gardens, Kensington Palace and on New York's Highline.

Perhaps the two most significant gardens I have worked in are RHS Wisley and Kensington Palace. Initially I trained on the Diploma in Practical Horticulture at Wisley, spending two years intensively working and studying whilst living in the gardens. I really loved it and later returned to work there, leading a team who cared for 12 acres of the ornamental gardens.

Prior to starting at the Inner Temple I managed the gardens of Kensington Palace, known around the world as the former home of Princess Diana. My time at Kensington coincided last year with the twentieth anniversary of the Princess's tragic death in 1997. For the anniversary I wanted to do something in the gardens that celebrated Princess Diana's life and legacy, an idea that led to the creation of a White Garden. This naturalistic scheme in the Palace's historic Sunken Garden included forget-me-nots (Mysotis), white roses (Rosa 'Desdemona') and airy Cosmos (Cosmos bipinnatus). It was intended as a reflective place where people could come to remember the Princess. On the eve of the twentieth anniversary itself, I had the enormous privilege of showing TRH The Duke and Duchess of Cambridge and HRH Prince Harry around the garden, as part of their public tribute to their mother.

So now to the Inner Temple. I have truly admired the Inner Temple Garden for a number of years, watching the work Andrea and the team have put in to transform this historic oasis. The High Borders have been rightly celebrated, and I have tried to call in regularly over the years to see what treats were in store. The Inner Temple

Garden is a true plant person's garden with layers of diverse planting and the highest horticultural standards. I have long dreamt of taking over as Head Gardener if the position were to become available, so it was with great anticipation that I heard that Andrea was moving to pastures new.

There are large boots to fill on Andrea's departure, but I am excited to continue the wonderful work that has gone before me and to develop the Garden in the years ahead. The spirit of the gardens – of beauty and people's enjoyment – will be in my mind as the team and I take the garden into the future.

I feel hugely privileged to become part of one of London's oldest communities. I, my partner Tom, and our cat Patsy look forward to getting to know you all.

Recent Enquiries

A number of enquiries we have dealt with since the last newsletter demonstrate the complementarity of printed and digital resources, and underline the importance of having supposedly “superseded” material close to hand and easily accessible.

Firstly we were asked to find Inland Revenue press releases from 1990. They are not online but we found them in the British Tax Encyclopedia in the basement store. In fact we no longer subscribe to this loose-leaf publication, but fortunately for the enquirer we had not disposed of the volumes altogether.

‘That’s twice this week I’ve been saved by the librarians!’

Another enquiry was from a barrister who needed to track a reference in the 4th edition of Halsbury’s Laws and find the equivalent passage in the more recent 5th edition. We used the hard copy of the 4th edition (currently housed in the Library gallery) to ascertain the exact words used and were then able to locate the passage in the 5th edition. The barrister replied, “That’s twice this week I’ve been saved by the librarians!”

A user who was appearing in the Supreme Court produced an authority from the South African Law Reports of which much of the text was in Afrikaans. We were able to trace an English translation, prompting the response, “This is incredibly helpful.”

We were asked to find an unreported tax tribunal decision. We found it on BAILII and the user said, “I spent hours searching the databases and forgot to check BAILII”.

Finally, a barrister was looking for information about magistrates’ court procedure in the early 1980s. This could not be found online but the old editions of Stone’s Justices Manual and other textbooks gave the enquirer what he needed. “I really appreciated your very efficient help!” was his response.

On Monday 23 April, the Treasurer, Master Caldecott, Master Dias, Master Jafferjee, Master Thorley and the Sub-Treasurer welcomed the Chief Justice of Sri Lanka, Priyasath Dep PC, and the Attorney-General, Hon Jayantha Chandrasiri Jayasuriya, to the Inn as part of a programme organised by Paul Mylvaganam (Landmark Chambers).

USA

A group of lawyers from the New York Family Law American Inn of Court joined Master Cryan, Master Scriven and the Sub-Treasurer on Wednesday 2 May for discussions about divorce cases, including distribution of assets, custody and support issues.

On 19 April, the Inn welcomed a visit by Judge Schroeder, president of The Chief Justice Joseph Branch American Inn of Court and Kristin Hendrick, an assistant country attorney in Minneapolis, at the request of the Warren Burger Inn of Court in St Paul, Minnesota. They were given a tour of Quadrant Chambers by Michael McParland QC and later met Master Griffiths for discussions about the Bar and lunch in Hall.

Cambodia and Uganda

The Inn hosted a visit by Mrs Chhunvoleak Srun, a judge of the Court of Appeal of Cambodia, and Hon Justice Alfonse Chigamoi Owiny-Dollo, Deputy Chief Justice of Uganda on Monday 30 April as part of an international judicial administration programme, organised by Public Administration International.

Singapore

The Treasurer visited Singapore on 18-22 April to give the opening address and judge a mock trial at the Singapore Litigation Conference Workshop, organised by the Law Society of Singapore. The conference featured various workshops, including those on Understanding, Preparing & Presenting Your Case and Appellate Advocacy, designed to allow practitioners to develop their litigation skills on a practical level.

Master Day, Master Ong, Master Pittaway and Master Ross attended and gave training sessions on behalf of the Inn. While in Singapore, the Treasurer met with the Chief Justice, Master Sundaresh Menon, and senior judges from the Supreme Court and High Court, as well as with a number of Singaporean members of the Inn, including Lawrence Teh, Chair of the Singapore Inner Temple Association. A full report is available on the Inn's website.

Malaysia

Master Pittaway travelled on to Malaysia on behalf of Inner Temple at the end of April to maintain friendships made last year and meet with members of the Malaysia Inner Temple Alumni Association (MITAA).

On 11 May, the Treasurer hosted a reception for members of the Malaysian Bar, in collaboration with the UK ASEAN Business Council.

International Appointments and Membership Activity: Making more of our members

The Inn's International Committee would like to hear from members with news of their, or any other Inner Temple's, appointment to an international court or in another jurisdiction. We would also be keen to learn more about the activities our members undertake overseas, including – but not limited to – advocacy training; lectures; and of books they publish.

Please contact Jennie Collis, Secretary to the International Committee, at jcollis@innertemple.org.uk.

Central and Eastern Mooting Competition (CEEMC)

On 20-23 April, Master Beal represented the Inn as a judge for the CEEMC, held this year in Wrocław, Poland. 14 teams of law students from a number of countries in Central and Eastern Europe competed in a simulated forum of the Court of Justice to the European Union in Luxembourg. The competition is organised by the British Law Centres of the educational charity Juris Angliae Scientia Ltd and held under the auspices of the Court of Justice and the Centre for European Legal Studies of the University of Cambridge. The winning team, this year from Charles University in Prague, will visit the Inner Temple in the autumn as part of their prize.

Brazil

On 15 May, Master Agnello, Master Nice, Master Rix and the Sub-Treasurer delivered talks to a group of 50 Federal judges and students from Brazil. The group were led by Dr Marcus Livio Gomes, a Brazilian academic and judge who is currently a visiting fellow at the Institute of Advanced Legal Studies.

WELLNESS FOR LAW FORUM 2018

BUILDING A RESILIENT PROFESSION

Friday 6 July 2018
Inner Temple

8.30am–5pm including lunch
Equivalent to 4 hours CPD

The Wellness for Law Forum is an annual initiative of Wellness for Law UK, sponsored by The Inner Temple.

The Forum hosts a one-day conference, sharing updates in research, clinical knowledge and good practice to inform and support the Legal Profession on issues of wellbeing.

The 2018 Forum presents keynote addresses from Professor Felicia Huppert, Emeritus Professor of Psychology and Director of the Well-being Institute at Cambridge University and Professor Cheryl Thomas QC (Hon), Honorary Bencher of The Inner Temple and Director of the UCL Judicial Institute. The Forum will also provide practical presentations for Chambers and Organisations to assist in developing policy, practice and support for staff and practitioners.

We warmly invite the Bar, Judges, Clerks, Practice Managers, Academics, Clinicians, Students and anyone with an interest in wellbeing and performance to attend.

Further programme and booking details are available on the Inner Temple and Wellness for Law UK Websites.

Healing with Heuchera (and other plants)

Kedra Winter, Employed Barrister

They say that barristers can argue the case for anything and anyone. Unfortunately for me, arguing with a mountain left me disabled and unable to meet the strenuous demands of life at the criminal bar. So, what does a young barrister do? Why, adopt a crazy derelict old house and overgrown garden of course!

I fell in love with Trieston House the moment I saw her; a mediaeval beauty in need of love and restoration coupled with a serious helping of stinging nettles over 6ft tall over the whole site. As I recovered, so did she and together we helped to heal each other. After pulling up every one of those nettles by hand, I took a look around and realised I was in trouble. I knew nothing about plants, nothing about designing gardens and nothing about where to start. I felt like a case when you are greeted by boxes and boxes of evidence on day one. So in true barrister fashion, I rolled up my sleeves and dived right in.

Now, her gardens are a haven of tranquillity with each plant lovingly grown from tinies by my husband and I and it is to here that I escape when my in-house job provides a tricky problem upon which to ruminate. There is nothing better than pruning our rose garden, a wedding present from my husband, to give me the peace and quiet to look at an issue from numerous angles. Nothing greater than explaining to a sympathetic salvia and a hearty heuchera why your case should succeed, and no judge more scathing than an unruly Escallonia, lavatera or crocosmia 'Lucifer'. No matter how good or bad a day one has, mental harmony can be restored simply by a good old fashioned potter in the peonies.

My garden provides more to me than pretty flowers – it helped save me when I was lost and gave me a reason to push my physical limitations in order to care and tend for something greater than me. However, gardening is not a spectator sport. With no tools to accommodate my injuries I have used my barrister brain to adapt and evolve – bumping along on your bottom to work through the 40ft beds is a treat in the summer. Alas not so much in early spring or late autumn! But the aches and pains at the end of the day are a small price to pay for the refreshment of my mind. Dig, weed, plant, trim, repeat.

The beautiful monotony of plant care is a balm to the soul. I would say it keeps me sane in an insane world but, given that this year we open for the first time as part of the National Garden Scheme, sanity is in short supply at the moment! If you need some time to replenish your batteries and ease your soul, look to a garden. If your fingers are less green, do come and visit us on our open days from 8-10 June. The kettle is always on in our home.

Organ Recital

Greg Morris
organ

Grace Davidson
soprano

J.S. Bach Clavier-Übung III including "St Anne"
Prelude and Fugue

The Temple Church's Associate Organist, Greg Morris, gives the final recital in a series of twenty eight concerts performing all of Bach's works for the organ in some of London's most famous ecclesiastical buildings. The recital is a complete performance of Clavier-Übung III, published by the composer as a summation of his art for his own instrument. Bookended by the famous "St Anne" Prelude and Fugue, but rarely performed complete, most of Clavier-Übung III is based on Bach's selection of the most important Lutheran chorales, and in this performance Greg will be joined by soprano, Grace Davidson, to sing these chorales.

Tickets: £25 £15 £10

Tuesday 24 July 2018
7pm Temple Church

Temple Song

Angelika Kirchsclager
mezzo-soprano

Julius Drake piano

Schubert Die Winterreise

The great Austrian mezzo-soprano, Angelika Kirchsclager, joins Julius Drake in the captivating setting of Temple Church for a performance of Schubert's Die Winterreise. Kirchsclager is celebrated as one of her generation's foremost interpreters of the operas of Strauss and Mozart but equally acclaimed as a recitalist. With Franz Schubert at the heart of her repertoire, she is performing his great cycle, Die Winterreise, for the first time in 2018.

Staff News

EAMONN O'REILLY

After almost 14 years at the Inn, Eamonn O'Reilly, the Scholarships and Students Manager, is leaving. He has been an invaluable member of the Education & Training Department, managing, amongst other responsibilities, the scholarships, student introductory and pupillage advice evenings and the Pegasus Trust. Eamonn will be much missed but our loss will be his children's gain, as he has decided to look after his two young children full-time. No doubt they will have lots of fun in the years to come! We wish him and his family all the best for the future.

SELLISHA LOCKYER

Sellisha joins the Education & Training Department as the Scholarships and Students Manager. Sellisha worked at Lincoln's Inn since 2015 as Education Co-ordinator (Post Call) where, amongst other responsibilities, she had been running the Pupillage Foundation Scheme which pairs unsuccessful pupillage applicants with a mentor to help them improve pupillage applications and practice interview skills. Sellisha was also responsible for incorporating a wellbeing initiative into Pupil's Courses. We wish her every success in her new role.

AMANDA DENNIS

Following the birth of her beautiful son, Woody, Amanda and partner Ben decided relocate to Nottingham and therefore she will not be returning to her role as Senior Gardener. Amanda started in the Garden as a volunteer in 2013, before accomplishing the Garden Trainee program in 2015, and then becoming Senior Gardener. During this time the Garden has won widespread acclaim and we would like to thank Amanda for all her hard work and dedication. We would also like to wish Amanda congratulations on becoming a Churchill Fellow which will see her travelling to America and the Netherlands later this year to visit famous gardens. We look forward to hearing about her travels.

Long Service

Many congratulations to the following members of staff who have completed significant periods of employment at the Inn.
